

BELL TELEPHONE CUTS DIVIDEND

Quarterly Dividend of Canadian Company Reduced 12 1/2 Per Cent

Montreal, May 25.—The Bell Telephone Company of Canada today reduced the dividend rate on the common stock of the company from an annual basis of $8 to $7 by the declaration of a quarterly dividend of $1.75, as against the previous rate of $2 quarterly. At the same time, a further reduction in wages was announced to become effective on July 1. These actions were decided upon at a meeting of the directors.

The $2 quarterly dividend rate has been paid continuously since 1891, a period of forty-one years.

On April 1, employees of the Bell Telephone Company were given a 5 per cent increase in wages and salaries. This was increased to 10 per cent on July 1. The directors' fees have undergone the same reduction, and will be included in the July 1 action.

B.C. LEADING IN SILVER OUTPUT

Vancouver, May 25.—An interesting situation in the silver market today is the official word from Ottawa that Canada produced in 1931 just 10.5 per cent of the world's computed production of 196,000,000 ounces of the white metal. Mexico contributed 42 per cent of the total and the United States 22 per cent.

British Columbia has definitely stepped to the front as the leading Canadian silver province, contributing about 59 per cent of the total Canadian output. British Columbia silver is obtained mainly from the Sullivan Mine at Kimberley, with Beaverdell Mines, Britannia, Premier and Prosperity and Granby also playing important parts.

ASK DUTY CUT ON GASOLINE

Fishermen of B.C. Tell Premier Bennett Burden Too Heavy For Industry

Ottawa, May 25.—A petition from the fishermen of British Columbia, addressed to the Prime Minister of Canada, was read in the House of Commons today evening by A. W. Neil, Independent, Comox-Alberni, urging the dumping duty on gasoline used in the fishing industry be removed.

The fishermen maintained they were working under a great disability as their chief competitors, the United States fishermen, secured their gasoline at much lower rates, and in addition were able to carry on and haul the trawls, the petition pointed out. It was argued that unless there was some relief of this nature the fishermen would be unable to carry on and would be forced to join the ranks of the unemployed.

REPORTS MORE EMPLOYMENT

A Toronto dispatch last Monday afternoon said:

Unemployment in the eight major Canadian industrial groups increased from 289,984 in January, 1930, to 726,594 in March of this year, according to Prof. G. E. Jackson, who addressed the fourth annual meeting of the Canadian Political Science Association here today.

"The situation in Canada looks worse than in England," he said. "In February of this year the percentage of unemployment in Great Britain stood at 22 per cent. In Canada the figure was 35 per cent. During the last three years 16 per cent of the total possible working time in this country has been lost as a result of unemployment."

European countries had been more efficient in relief work than Canada, stated Prof. L. C. March of McGill University, in the discussion which followed Prof. Jackson's paper.

Speaking on relief work, Prof. H. M. Cassidy declared it would be "fatal" to give up the idea of relief work and reliance on the state.

LITTLE DEBATE ON GASOLINE

E. J. Young, Addressing Commons, Says Bennett Tariff Policy Keeps Price Up

Ottawa, May 25.—Canadian consumers of gasoline pay too much for the product because the tariff policy of the government has made it impossible for independent producers to operate and has prevented importation of gasoline from countries which would sell at a price more nearly equal to that in the United States, said E. J. Young, Liberal, Weyburn, Sask., today in the Commons yesterday.

The subject was not discussed at length because of a motion to proceed with the business on the order paper, which had the effect of closing off the debate on gasoline. The motion, made by B. W. Gray, Liberal, Lumbton, Ont., was carried on a division of 83 to 43.

The action of the House in voting to proceed with the orders of the day over the motion of concurrence in the gasoline report means that under the order of business no further motion of concurrence may be moved in this session, thereby shelving the report.

The report, which represented the views of the committee majority, but not the views of two Liberal members of the committee, stated that gasoline prices in Canada were not excessive.

Shelving of the report may not entirely exclude a debate on gasoline prices, but it would be moved by the committee chairman, R. C. Matthews, Conservative, Toronto East-Centre, and being desirous of stating his views, he himself moved concurrence.

While Mr. Young moved concurrence in the report, he accepted it, he declared, only in so far as it exonerated the Imperial Oil Company from any undue profit-taking or any responsibility for the high price of gasoline.

The company's average profit was 1.01 cents a gallon, the report stated. He blamed the government for its tariff methods and asserted that, were it not for the policy of fixing prices for duty purposes, and giving a preference to Canadian refiners of crude gasoline, which was denied to independent operators, the price to the consumers would be much lower.

The committee majority's report expressed the view that prices of gasoline in Canada were not unreasonably high and advised that further investigation would not serve any good purpose.

Several members of the committee undoubtedly would have supported the contention of Mr. Young had the debate proceeded.

SESSION PLANS NOT YET MADE

Bennett Unable to Tell Commons If Parliament Will Meet in Fall

Ottawa, May 25.—Premier Bennett told the Commons this forenoon no decision had yet been reached in respect to calling a fall session of Parliament. In answer to a question asked by Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, opposition leader, the Prime Minister said he would be glad to make the convenience of members by making an announcement immediately about the date when Parliament would reconvene. No conclusion had been arrived at by the government, however, and until the Imperial Economic Conference had taken place, it would be difficult to reach a decision. He would endeavor to announce the opening date of the next session as long as possible before Parliament would meet, in order to give the members ample notice.

Mr. Bennett reminded the House that unless some change was made the fiscal measure of Great Britain, making products from the Dominion liable to a duty of 20 per cent, would come into effect November 15 next.

FALLING TREE KILLS FIVE

Blown Over By Wind, It Strikes Truck Traveling Along Ontario Highway

Hawkesbury, Ont., May 25.—Five persons lost their lives and one today lay in a hospital, critically injured, as the result of an unusual accident near here yesterday. A tree, blown over by a heavy wind, fell on a truck traveling along the highway, instantly killing four of the passengers, and the fifth died in the hospital from injuries several hours later.

Those killed were Lucien Lachaine, Andre St. Armand, Althous Durocher, Paul Laroque and Marcel St. Armand. Roland Oume, fourteen, was in the hospital today and it was feared he would not recover.

The truck, driven by W. St. Armand, was returning from a Victoria Day picnic.

Mexicans Score U.S. Tariff Plans

Mexico City, May 25.—The proposed new United States tariff on primary products such as copper and petroleum was "a declaration of economic war," the newspaper El Universal Grafico said in an editorial today.

"This law shows utter disregard for international relations," the editorial said, "and for future conditions. Genuine friendship is concerned with the future and unfortunately we have no proof of sincerity in the alleged friendship of our neighboring colossus."

BEAUHARNOIS INQUIRY URGED

Gardiner Tells Commons He Believes Finances Should Be Investigated

Ottawa, May 25.—A royal commission to investigate Beauharnois affairs and the operation of the vast power and navigation scheme by the Dominion under a federal hydro-electric commission was urged in the Commons yesterday by members of the Progressive group.

In turning down the nationalization suggestion, Hon. Charles H. Cahoon, Secretary of State, said it was "the appeal of the ordinary burglar when he knows does not belong to him."

Robert Gardiner, head of the United Farmers of Alberta, led the Beauharnois attack. Charges and sensational statements were thrown across the floor but a snag was encountered by the gingerly when Speaker Black ruled out of order a motion embodying the two major proposals.

SALE OF BONDS

Through the sale of bonds money had been secured by Beauharnois for the investing public "under false pretences," charged Mr. Gardiner. One of his followers, E. J. Garland, Bow River, said the time had come for the Dominion to seize control of the enterprise and save it from "the great power interests."

James E. Woodsworth, Winnipeg labor member, said it would be "sorry triumph" if Sir Herbert Holt of Montreal should gain control of Beauharnois.

The Secretary of State pleaded for an opportunity for the Beauharnois bondholders to place the property on a paying basis.

The House spent Empire Day debating a wide variety of topics in an effort to arrange for prorogation to-day or to-morrow. Practically without discussion a bill was approved setting up the Canadian radio broadcasting commission to regulate a state-controlled system.

PROPOSALS FOR FARMERS

Miss Agnes MacPhail, Canada's only woman member of Parliament, proposed an elaborate programme of farm relief. Expressing regret "the government has made no pronouncement of a policy calculated to meet the depressed conditions of the agricultural industry," Miss MacPhail outlined several suggestions. Included in the programme was national control and control of the marketing of farm products, and the reduction of farm indebtedness and interest rates, international agreement respecting tariffs, creation of an export marketing board and control of the foreign exchange for Canadian agricultural products.

Temper ran high in a spirited prelude to the passing of the 3 per cent excise tax on automobiles. Rhinoceros suggested British goods be exempted from the impost as an Imperial gesture. Premier Bennett described this as "fine talk" and accused the opposition leader of attempting to make political capital out of the Imperial gesture.

Hon. Ernest Lapointe, former Minister of Justice, took up the cudgels on behalf of his leader and charged the Prime Minister with "threatening a leader of the opposition with making an announcement immediately about the date when Parliament would reconvene. No conclusion had been arrived at by the government, however, and until the Imperial Economic Conference had taken place, it would be difficult to reach a decision. He would endeavor to announce the opening date of the next session as long as possible before Parliament would meet, in order to give the members ample notice."

Mr. Bennett reminded the House that unless some change was made the fiscal measure of Great Britain, making products from the Dominion liable to a duty of 20 per cent, would come into effect November 15 next.

COMMONS SETS RADIO SALARIES

Chairman of National Commission to Receive $10,000 a Year

Ottawa, May 25.—The chairman of the Canadian radio broadcasting commission will receive a salary of $10,000 a year, and the two commissioners $8,000 each, according to the provisions of the bill respecting radio broadcasting which is passing through the final stages in the Commons yesterday. The bill, based on the report of a special committee on radio, provides the machinery for the nationalization of radio broadcasting in Canada, which will be operated under a system of public ownership.

Very little debate marked the final consideration of the measure. Premier Bennett, sponsor of the bill, announced that after consultation with members of the opposition and with his own party, it had been decided the salaries as named above would be suitable for the initial stage of the commission. His proposal was adopted without dissent.

There were several minor amendments to improve the wording of the measure, and one to bring the revenues, as well as the expenditures, under the scrutiny of the Auditor-General of Canada. A section was added to the bill to place the entire activities of the commission within the scope of the Consolidated Revenue and Audit Act of 1921, and the salary to be paid to the commissioners and assistant commissioners was rearranged.

TESTIFIES IN OWN DEFENCE

Vanuatu, May 25.—Taking the witness stand in his own defence, Pura Singh Dial, twenty-five-year-old East Indian, denied in the assize court here he had conspired with Sham Kour, twenty-four, to murder her husband, Mahar Singh.

Passages in letters written by Pura Singh Dial to Sham Kour after she had left Vancouver with her husband in April, 1931, for India, and which were opened by a Sikh priest in Hongkong, were put to the accused in cross-examination by H. McNeill, K.C., prosecuting counsel.

Mahar Singh Dial died at the hospital on April 5, 1931, one day after the ship had left Victoria.

Dr. W. Y. Corry testified he had attended Mahar Singh on March 25, 1931, and he was a physical wreck, suffering from acute alcoholism. The man was 100 pounds overweight, had an enlarged heart and high blood pressure, and was drinking a quart of whisky a day. The doctor told him he would not live a year unless he changed his habits, and he was not surprised when he died from cerebral hemorrhage on April 5.

NO WATERWAY TREATY YET

By KEN CLARK

Canadian Press Staff Correspondent

Washington, May 25.—Colonel Randolph MacNider, United States Minister to Canada, on the occasion of a recent visit to Washington unofficially warned the Canadian government that passage of import taxes placing embargoes on Canadian lumber and copper would make it awkward for United States negotiators on the St. Lawrence treaty.

It is understood the minister pointed out the position of the Canadian government negotiating a treaty with the United States would not be rendered more popular by decision of the United States legislators to cut off a trade worth millions annually.

BUSY TRADING VOTES

On Monday evening, the tariff coalition in the Senate was powerful enough to override easily all opposition and hold together in a vote-trading bargain on coal, oil, lumber and copper, and put through the two import taxes which will, if they are not removed, joint committee of the House and Senate, make necessary a reorientation of the Canadian copper and lumber industries.

There is no suggestion here the Canadian government endeavored to use the offices of Col. MacNider in order to make a trade treaty for no tariff. It is understood the United States minister, closely in touch with the Canadian political situation and setting in the interests of good feeling between the two countries, was well-wisher for the St. Lawrence project, seized the opportunity of a visit here to talk with legislators. The senators, however, for party reasons or because they were impressed by the minister's copy-right tactics of the tariff-makers, failed to present the legislation imposing a tax of 83 per 1,000 pound on lumber and 4 cents a pound on copper.

There was a threat other labor unions would join with the postal workers and the up the commercial and industrial life of the whole nation unless the National Government should grant the workers' demands.

The strike here claimed thirty other cities had been added to the list of those supporting them.

POSTAL STRIKE IN CHINA SPREADS

Shanghai, May 25.—The Chinese postal workers' strike, which had tied up incoming and outgoing mail here and in several other cities since the beginning of the week, appeared spreading to-day.

There was a threat other labor unions would join with the postal workers and the up the commercial and industrial life of the whole nation unless the National Government should grant the workers' demands.

The strike here claimed thirty other cities had been added to the list of those supporting them.

EXPORT DUTY IS SUGGESTED

Ottawa, May 25.—Declaring it might not yet be too late to prevent the bill passing Congress, B. Nicholson, Conservative, Algoma, Ont., yesterday urged on the Dominion Government that some retaliatory action should be taken against the United States in respect to the proposed tariff increase on lumber and copper. The proposed increases would practically destroy any export business in those commodities from Canada to the United States, Mr. Nicholson declared.

Earlier in the day Mr. Nicholson had suggested the imposition of an excise tax on processed copper coming from the United States and also an export duty on nickel from Canada to the United States. He had also stated low-grade lumber from the United States was being dumped into Canada.

B. M. Stitt, Conservative, Nelson, B.C., agreed with the member for East Algoma. He told of a mill in his constituency, employing 1,000 men and shipping its products almost exclusively to the United States. He did not know what would happen if the new tariff came into effect.

A. E. Munn, Liberal, North Vancouver, also supported Mr. Nicholson. The requests from Mr. Nicholson and the other members who supported him did not draw any statement from the government. After they had made their representations, the House proceeded to discussion of the Beauharnois Power project.

Britain Agrees To Make Debt Payments

"No. I do not think so," the Foreign Secretary said.

FIRST STEP

The agreement drawn up here with Ambassador Andrew W. Mellon, marks the first post-mortem step in British war debt payments.

In official quarters to-day it was emphasized it was merely a routine matter in answer to a request from Washington to the government to be affected by the moratorium to make provision for the payment of the annuity which was suspended last June.

It was said that the government was not going to make a second attempt to visit the airship, but as she passed down the Straits without incident, it was high and far out in the sea, and was heavily against him, that he abandoned the attempt.

After fixing the tank strap, Mr. Eve was going to make a second attempt to visit the airship, but as she passed down the Straits without incident, it was high and far out in the sea, and was heavily against him, that he abandoned the attempt.

It was said that the government was not going to make a second attempt to visit the airship, but as she passed down the Straits without incident, it was high and far out in the sea, and was heavily against him, that he abandoned the attempt.

COVERS SOUND CENTRES

The Akron came north over Portland and Tacoma yesterday morning, and was in the Seattle area around noon. She did not stop as there is no mooring mast for her in the north-west. She cruised slowly over the Sound cities. So huge was her bulk that it cast a vast shadow on the streets of Seattle as it passed. Over the city she came down to a height of about 1,000 feet.

After lingering over Seattle, the airship flew north to Everett, Mount Vernon and Bellingham, and over the San Juan Islands. She also visited Bremerton and Port Townsend. She then passed over Seattle a second time, after that heading up the Sound and into the Straits. About 3 o'clock she was in the Straits and within a few minutes she was over the town of Victoria. She was off Victoria directly between here and Port Angeles at 4 o'clock. Bucking a stiff wind coming in from the ocean she went on down the Straits past the Race Rocks light-house, rounding Cape Flattery, she headed south down the Coast, travelling about fifty miles out at sea from the shore.

LARGE VESSEL

The wireless she would arrive at her Pacific home port at Sunnyvale, California, at daylight to-day.

The Akron is 785 feet long and carries seventy officers and men. Her cost was $5,375,000. She has engines of 4,480 horsepower and a speed of 10.580 miles without refueling.

She started out from Sunnyvale Monday evening on her tour of the Pacific Northwest, passing over Eugene, Cal., at 6.30 o'clock. She turned inshore from the ocean at Bandon, Ore., at 12.30 a.m., was over Marshfield, Ore., at 1 a.m., and reached Eugene, Ore., at 3.30 a.m. Albany at 4.30 a.m. Salem at 5.30 a.m., and Portland at 6.35 a.m.

SAYS HELLO TO BROTHER

Dr. Gladys Peck of Seattle climbed into an airplane to "visit" her brother, Lieut. Scott E. Peck, gunnery officer aboard the Akron, yesterday. The airplane came alongside the dirigible near Bellingham and displayed a sign: "Dr. Peck, Sis says hello."

Peck and her pilot said men aboard the dirigible waved their hands in greeting.

LARGEST AIR CRAFT EVER ATTEMPTED

The Akron was built at Akron, Ohio. She is the largest air vessel ever built, far exceeding in size any of the German Zeppelins. Her length is more than twice the height of Seattle's tall Northern Life Tower.

Her gas capacity is twice that of the famed Graf Zeppelin and three times that of the dirigible Los Angeles, making her by far the most formidable battleship of the sky ever launched.

An idea of the Akron's immensity may be formed by the statement that two city blocks of ten-story buildings could be shoved into the frame, leaving a cut-off of the railroad.

FUNERAL OF LINDBERGH BABY

Flier Who Scattered Father's Ashes From Plane Carries Body of Tiny Son to Crematory; No Services or Ceremonies

Another heart-rending ordeal in the life of Col. Charles Lindbergh, strangely resembling the first, is revealed in this picture which shows the hearse bearing the body of Baby Lindbergh as it left an undertaker's establishment at Trenton, N.J., for the Rose Hill crematory at Linden. Colonel Lindbergh's father, the late ex-Congressman Charles A. Lindbergh of Minnesota, was likewise cremated upon his death in 1921 and his son—then a youthful cadet in the army air corps—took his father's ashes aloft and scattered them over the family's Minnesota farm. Riding in a closed car, Colonel Lindbergh followed the hearse that bore his little son's body to the crematory. There were no funeral services. Two lone police officers, standing at rigid attention, served as the only guard of honor as the vehicle containing the remains of the famous baby entered the crematory, followed by the father. Mrs. Lindbergh, the mother, did not accompany the body of her child on the final ride.

PLANETOID IS DISCOVERED

Heidelberg, Germany, May 25.—The Heidelberg Observatory yesterday evening announced the discovery of a new planet, which it tentatively named "Nineteen Thirty-two," and which can attain a proximity of 7,000,000 kilometers to the earth.

This is approximately 4,350,000 miles.

By Howard W. Blakeslee, Associated Press Science Editor

New York, May 25.—The Heidelberg "planet" is a very small object and a few miles in diameter. It is one of the celestial bodies usually called a planetoid.

More than 1,000 of these planetoids have been discovered in the last few years. Most of them are at a great distance from the earth in orbits far out between Mars and Jupiter.

The largest of them is about the size of England if that country could be rolled into a ball. The importance of this latest discovery is its extreme closeness to the earth.

INCOME TAX BILL PASSED

Canadian Press
Ottawa, May 25.—Third reading was given in the Commons yesterday to the income tax amendments and the bill embodying the budget changes in the customs tariff.

Third reading was given in the senate yesterday evening to bills respecting the incorporation of livestock record associations and amending the Judges Act. The measure respecting the incorporation of livestock record associations consolidates and amends the Livestock and Pedigree Act. The amendments to the Judges Act merely corrects an omission which occurred in the revision of the statutes of 1927.

Debt Agreements To Be Signed

New York, May 25.—A special dispatch to The New York Herald-Tribune from Washington says all sixteen European debtor nations to the United States have agreed to sign the moratorium refunding arrangement, "and within two weeks the contracts to repay $250,000,000 will be duly signed."

The dispatch says Great Britain has taken the lead among the major European powers.

HOAXER SOON TO BE TRIED

Col. Lindbergh May Be Witness Against J. H. Curtis in New Jersey

Associated Press
Hopewell, N.J., May 25.—Officials of the state of New Jersey laid plans today to rush the indictment and trial of John Hughes Curtis of Norfolk, Va., for his hoax negotiations in the Lindbergh baby abduction mystery. His case will be called before the grand jury to-morrow morning. Although authorities hope to avoid calling Col. Charles A. Lindbergh as a witness, the flier will not hesitate to testify at the trial if Curtis is indicted and such testimony is required, it has been made plain.

Prosecutor Anthony Hauck decided to proceed at once against Curtis after conferring with Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, head of the state police. "I believe the evidence justifies indictment and that it will be possible to try Curtis in June," he said.

ARE PREPARING FOR CONFERENCE

Premier MacDonald Says
British Delegates to Ottawa
Gathering Are at Work

Canadian Press
London, May 25.—Premier MacDonald, home at Lonsdale, Scotland, yesterday, told the nation in a broadcast Empire Day message that the British delegation to the Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa in July would have studied its problems with a thoroughness never before devoted to them. It would have studied, before leaving, every aspect of Imperial preference as a means of promoting Imperial unity, increasing the volume of Imperial trade and employing Imperial labor, he said.

Kreuger Director Is Held For Trial

Stockholm, May 25.—Erik Sjostrom, a director of Kreuger and Toll, was arrested yesterday after the parent company of the vast Kreuger interests had declared itself bankrupt. Mr. Sjostrom, managing director of the company, although he was not arrested, was requested to remain at the disposal of the police.

BANKRUPTCY BILL PASSED

Canadian Press
Ottawa, May 25.—The Senate yesterday evening gave third reading to the measure amending the Bankruptcy Act. The features of the bill provide for a Dominion superintendent of bankruptcy under the Finance Department and the licensing of bankruptcy trustees.

City Hears About Radio Station

Canadian Press
Ottawa, May 25.—In the Commons yesterday Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, opposition leader, stated he had received a wire from a member of the Saskatchewan Legislature stating F. R. MacMillan, Conservative, Saskatoon, had wired to Saskatoon that one of the radio stations would be located in that city. Was the wire authorized "in any way" asked Mr. King.

PRISONERS IN CUBA KILLED

Four Men Held on Political Charges Slain By Guards

Associated Press
Havana, May 25.—Tension increased in all quarters to-day as news of the killing of four political prisoners by their guards during an alleged attempt to escape spread throughout the six Cuban provinces. The four, two of whom were well-known lawyers, were shot down yesterday after being brought to Artemisa, one of the hotbeds of revolt. They had been arrested in connection with the bomb murder last week of Lieut. Diego Diaz, and their guards said they made a break for liberty as they neared the Artemisa jail. Anti-Machadists declared the "law of flight" providing immunity for those involved in slayings of this sort had been used as a shield by the government in eliminating strong opposition. Authorities, claiming to have ferreted out a gigantic terrorist plot, increased its defensive strength, arrested some 250 of the known oppositionists, and hustled Col. Carlos Mendieta and Col. Carlos Penate, two of the leaders of last August's abortive revolt, together with some of their followers, to the Isle of Pines prison for safety.

FAVORABLE TRADE BALANCE

Wellington, N.Z., May 25 (Canadian Press Cable).—The government yesterday revealed latest returns on values of imports and exports, indicating New Zealand is improving its already favorable balance of trade. Figures for April showed exports worth $4,957,000, as against imports worth $1,260,000.

THE NEW TRADE TREATY

IT IS TO BE HOPED THE NEW TRADE treaty Canada and New Zealand negotiated recently will help to restore the business which the two countries did with one another under the operation of the old agreement which the present government at Ottawa terminated. Both dominions have suffered materially through the disruption of their economic relationship. The extent of the loss is shown in the following figures:

	Sales to N.Z.	Purchases from N.Z.
1929	$17,587,763	$12,711,184
1930	19,767,488	16,282,719
1931	12,688,475	6,671,252
1932	3,724,225	1,080,230
Total	$52,936,951	$36,805,395

It will be seen from the foregoing that, in four years of trade with New Zealand, Canada had an advantage of no less than $16,131,556. For half the fiscal year of 1931 the old trading arrangement remained undisturbed; but when the Bennett government increased the butter duty from one cent a pound to eight cents, New Zealand immediately retaliated by removing the preference which certain of our manufactured products, notably automobiles and automobile accessories, had formerly enjoyed. An average export business of approximately 650 motor cars a month vanished altogether within a very short time.

The official figures for the fiscal year ending with March last—the first full business year of the tariff war—illustrate convincingly the folly of a policy based on the stupid idea that it is possible to circumvent economic laws. The voters were told in the election campaign of the summer of 1930 that the dairy industry of Canada was being ruined because so much New Zealand butter was coming into this country. It was beside the question that we either had to bring butter in or go on short commons because we were not producing sufficient to meet our own requirements. Yet while the major part of our purchases from New Zealand before the abrogation of the old agreement consisted of butter, Canadian dairymen were getting between thirty-eight and forty cents a pound. If they were being ruined then, what must be their plight to-day with no butter coming in at all, and the wholesale price about half what it was two years ago?

It is not necessary to say that we need all the trade we can get; but the sad part about our commercial relationship with New Zealand is that this country deliberately shut it off. We reduced a business worth nearly $36,000,000 to less than $5,000,000. Now we are told in a dispatch from Ottawa that the new treaty is an "instrument that will knit the two Pacific dominions in closer commercial relationship," that "it is regarded as a significant step toward the goal of imperial economic unity," and that it is "expected to claim the favorable attention of the Empire Conference which meets here—Ottawa—in July."

There never was the least reason, and the course of events have proved it, for the disturbance of the business which the two dominions had been doing with one another. And all that can be said about the matter now is that the government at Ottawa has realized the cost of its mistake and has done the best it could to repair the damage. But trade once lost is not easy to recapture.

SINGING IN THE BATHTUB

THAT MEN LIKE TO SING WHILE bathing has long been recognized as one of the harmless but puzzling idiosyncrasies of modern life. Now, at last, comes Dr. Vern O. Knudsen, professor of physics on the Los Angeles campus of the University of California, to explain that this happens largely because the ordinary bathroom is so beautifully resonant.

The bathroom is small, and it is usually lined with glazed tile, he explains. Consequently, it makes an ideal sounding board for the human voice, lifted in song. The man who has no illusions whatever about his vocal gifts may, therefore, be pardoned if he warbles loudly while standing in the shower. The very laws of physics are on his side. Can he be blamed for taking advantage of them?

WHAT IS STARVATION?

CERTAIN PUBLIC OFFICIALS recently have taken occasion to congratulate the United States on the fact that there is nowhere in the land any actual starvation. Those famous reports from thirty-five governors agreed on that point. Now, however, comes a flat contradiction of this statement. The Welfare Council of New York City publishes a magazine called "Better Times." In its current issue there is an article by Eleanor Flexner, who investigated conditions for the magazine after the governors had said their say. Here is what she discovered: During the year 1931, four New York hospitals reported ninety-five cases of starvation. These resulted in twenty deaths.

Considering the fact that New York contains 7,000,000 people, that number, perhaps, is not large. But it is worth while to see just what the hospitals call starvation. Going on miserably insufficient rations is not called starvation. In a pinch, a man—or a child, for that matter—can live for months on bread and coffee. That person will always feel terribly hungry, he will get thin and weak, and he will be a ready prey for the first disease germ that lodges in his system; he will be, in the eyes of those of us who are sure of three good meals a day, "starving to death"—but he will not, technically, be suffering from starvation. If he lands in a hospital or a welfare agency he will be written down as a sufferer from malnutrition.

Starvation means that a person gets nothing at all to eat—not a dry crust, or a cup of weak tea. And during the past year ninety-five persons in just that fix were taken to New York hospitals, and twenty of them died.

HOW MR. MACDONALD SEES IT

IN AN INSPIRING EMPIRE DAY MESSAGE, Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald expressed the belief that at the forthcoming Ottawa Conference it will be possible to lay the foundations of an economic policy which while mutually helpful to the members of the British Commonwealth will not paralyze general world commerce and, in fact, will create freer conditions of world trade.

Inter-empire trade and world commerce are indissolubly related to one another. They are, in fact, so vitally interdependent that it is impossible to have one without the other. At the very best it is possible for Great Britain to develop within the Commonwealth only a relatively limited proportion of the trade she requires for the maintenance of her vast commercial structure. Nor can Canada under the most favorable conditions find markets within the same orbit for more than a minority percentage of her production. Indeed, if there is one lesson to be learned from the present economic situation it is that no nation, or group of nations, for that matter, can live unto themselves.

Premier MacDonald's expression of hope that the Ottawa Conference might result in freer conditions of world trade suggests that he looks for a reduction of customs tariffs within the empire as an outcome of the gathering. This means that the various dominions should go to the conference with the determination to ascertain how much they can buy from one another rather than how much they can sell to one another. The conference in London in 1930 collapsed because each dominion was concerned mainly with selling and only incidentally with buying. The conference at Ottawa likewise will be a failure if it is dominated by this conflict of selfish national interest.

If the coming conference is not dominated by selfishness, if each dominion approaches the situation as a prospective buyer, it is inevitable that there must be a marked reduction of tariff barriers, particularly by Canada, which has been heavily penalizing British imports during the last two years.

RAILROAD PROBLEMS

CANADA IS NOT THE ONLY COUNTRY

with a formidable railway problem on its hands. A few days ago Mr. Bennett pointed out in the House of Commons that the shares of the New York Central are now selling at less than twelve dollars compared with $200 a few months ago, while practically the same condition existed with the shares of the Pennsylvania Railroad, with the Baltimore and Ohio passing its preferred dividend. In fact, said Mr. Bennett, the railway situation on this continent was one "which beggars all description."

The Prime Minister explained that "this has been brought about by lack of traffic." But he can not escape some of the responsibility for the reduction of traffic available to the railway systems of Canada. Shrinkage in commodity values, serious decline in purchasing power, and the world-wide economic disturbance have naturally had their effect on our railways as they have had on those in other countries. Mr. Bennett's tariff policy, however, has directly contracted this Dominion's trade, curtailed the business of the railways, and reduced the demand for all the various services employed in the movement of imports and exports. It is the same policy which has so seriously whittled down the external trade of the United States. It will only be changed, as Lord Revelstoke, the eminent British financier, said recently by deposing what he called the "tyranny of tariffs."

The egregious Dr. Condon, called "Jafie," made a mysterious trip which wound up at a lunatic asylum, and newsmen made a sensation out of it. Any movement of this absurd old man in the direction of an insane asylum certainly would not be news.

The United States has been more heavily hit by adverse economic conditions than any other country in the world, her difficulties resulting mainly from loss of foreign trade. Yet she continues to cripple that trade by further tariff increases. Query: how much punishment, short of complete bankruptcy, will she be able to absorb before the majority of her legislators discover what is wrong with their country?

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

HOW THE WEST EXPANDED
The Toronto Globe

An intensive study of the prairie provinces is presented in a new statistical atlas of their agriculture, climate and population, just issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. As the growth of this part of Canada was unprecedented, the information now compiled will be of value for the future in recording the development of the Dominion in general.

The expansion rate realized in western Canada from 1900 to 1925 probably will not return. It came from the combined circumstances of landless people seeking homes, just when land was available in one of the last great vacant areas in a temperate zone. Railway construction, migration from older and more crowded countries, and a period of general prosperity combined to make this growth possible when it was realized "the twentieth century belongs to Canada," as Sir Wilfrid Laurier said.

Charts, tables, explanations present the information from the 1926 western census in scores of forms. It is an inspiring record for all Canadians.

T. AND N.O. "PROFIT"

The Toronto Star

The T. and N.O., like all other railways, was built with borrowed money. Of the necessary sum, $6,000,000 was borrowed by the T. and N.O. Commission on its own debenture bonds, and on this debt it pays the interest. The remaining capital was borrowed by the province and advanced to the railway. This amount is given in the public accounts of Ontario for 1931 (page 8) as $30,307,994. If the railway were really paying its way, it would provide interest and sinking fund—or at any rate interest—on this money that the province borrowed for its construction. The railway does not pay its way and does not provide sufficient money to cover this interest charge. The sum that its report says it turned over to the province in 1931 ($850,000, not $1,000,000) falls far short of paying even four per cent on thirty millions.

To call this $850,000 "profit," and to represent it as "dividend" for the province, is to disregard the plain fact that it is not profit at all, but a partial payment of interest. In the public accounts of Ontario the annual payment is labelled "Tremblekamek and Northern Ontario Railway Commission, Interest on Funds Advanced."

The railway fell at least $350,000 short of breaking even in 1931. Even at that it did better than most other railways.

A THOUGHT

Loose Ends

A grave allegation is made—democracy flourishes once more—Franklin makes a few observations.—and I learn some natural history next door.

By H. E. W.

A GENTLEMAN WHO somehow I got to attach his name to the letter, has just written to accuse me of what I take to be high treason, arson, corruption and several really interesting misdemeanors. But what interested me most was the allegation that I am the pay not of one but of both the political parties of British Columbia. This shocking revelation does not shock me, because I have long ago become too hard-boiled to be shocked at anything. But what does worry me, what does cause me to lie awake at night and sob on my pillow, what makes me sorrow as I spend my ill-gotten gains, is running amok, not because I am in the pay of both political parties, but because I sometimes fear that I am not giving them their full money's worth. What amazes me most, what makes me lose my faith in politicians is that neither of the two parties has suspected that long ago.

THE PRESENT argument over the compilation of voters' lists in Victoria and Vancouver is interesting to the friends of democracy and universal suffrage. Here we find both political parties striving to get people on the list, organizing to register them, working lest all the voters shall not be able to vote. The government will spend thousands of dollars of the taxpayers' money for the same purpose, an army of enumerators will sweep across the country, and even with all these heroic efforts many eligible persons will still be off the list when it is closed. Apparently, if left to themselves, without the high-pressure organization of the government and the two parties, only a small minority of the population would ever vote at all.

AND THIS, ladies and gentlemen, is the franchise for which our fathers fought and died. This is the stuff of Runnymede and Whitehall. This is the thing which convulsed our Mother Land in civil war, which almost caused a revolution a bare century ago, which was achieved with the struggles of the Reform Bill, which is the product of hundreds of years of blood and toil. This is the thing for which our American neighbors fought at Lexington and Valley Forge, and our own Canadian ancestors only secured after the revolution of '37. This is the thing on which our grandfathers pinned their faith of a better world. It was to be a general election, the life of the body politic, a guarantee of liberties and assurance of prosperity. Men would die not long ago for the right to vote. Now they won't even bother to register unless the state and both political parties spend a lot of time and money tracking them down to their homes, forcing them almost by threat of violence, to sign their names on the dotted line.

AS USUAL, having once secured a thing it becomes contemptible to us through too much familiarity, and being so easily available to everyone, it is no longer cherished. Anyway, friends of democracy know that it stands at the moment very low in the esteem of the world, but so does everything else at a time like this. If we were to lose it, if we were prevented from voting, then there would be a mad rush for the polling booth. Well, if the untrammelled electors don't take a livelier interest in their own affairs, one of these days that very thing will happen. Then you will be sorry.

IT IS NOT unusual, having said a thing, to find that someone else has said it long ago much better. This occurs to me every day or so, but then one can't help it, since all the things worth saying have been said hundreds of times already and there are only two or three ideas in the world. Anyway, I have just found in the Autobiography of Benjamin Franklin precisely what a lot of people are saying these days, and said much better than they are saying it.

THE LATE Ben wrote: "Observations on my reading history, in Library, May 18th, 1781: That the great affairs of the world, the wars, revolutions, etc., are carried on and affected by parties. That the view of these parties is their present general interest or what they take to be such. That the different views of these different parties occasion all confusion. That while a party is carrying on a general design, each man has his particular private interest in view. That as soon as a party has gained its general point, each man becomes intent upon his particular interest; which, thwarting others, breaks that party into divisions and occasions more confusion. That few in public affairs act from a 'meat' view of the good of their country whatever they may pretend; and, tho' their actions bring real good to their country, yet men primarily considered that their own and their country's interest was united, and did not act from a principle of benevolence. That fewer still, in public affairs, act with a view to the good of mankind."

THERE SEEMS to me at present to be great occasion for raising a United Party for Virtue, by forming the virtuous and good men of all nations into a regular body, to be governed by suitable good and wise rules, which good and wise men may probably be more unanimous in their obedience to, than common people are to common laws. I at present think that whoever attempts this right, and is well qualified, cannot fall of pleasing God and of meeting with success."

UNFORTUNATELY, FRANKLIN was too busy to get his great project under way and nothing came of his idea. Nothing is likely to. Any party which united on a policy of virtue, which offered nothing but good government, no new railways, no lower taxes, no courthouses, postoffices and reduced liquor prices, would ever get elected in these times. But it is comforting at least to know that our troubles are not unique, that they afflicted our ancestors as they do us.

THE LITTLE GIRL from next door was just now to accept a green candy and give in return a lesson in natural history which I found most instructive. As a matter of public information I feel I should hand it on. "Um, um, what d'you expect?" asked the little girl from next door. "They shot a bear at Royal Oak to-day just up the Sandwich Road. They shot it awfully dead. So when they shot it it awfully dead, the big bear he got up and went home because he was awfully mad. He lives over in those big black hills over there. He went home and told his mummy how they had shot him awfully dead. So his mummy is awfully mad, too, and she's coming down to Royal Oak to find the men what shot him. And when she finds 'em, she'll nibble 'em and they won't like that."

BUT THAT'S not all," said the little girl from next door, having accepted a second green candy. "What d'you expect? When we were playing out in the field to-day near where the rabbit, lived a little white cougar came and visited with us. Um, um. He had on blue overalls just like mine and his tail was all curled up like Nipper's. Cougars is sposed to be bad chaps what'll nibble you right in the middle, but this one wasn't. He was a nice little cougar with a white face. Where are you going to? I say to the nice little white cougar. I'm going to town to get my hair cut and buy some candy," he says. But just then his mummy called him to come home for his dinner and he was very mad. So what d'you expect? He lay down on the ground and started to eat the dirt, 'cause cougars always eat the dirt when they get mad. So his mummy was very mad, too, and spanked him on the back and he didn't get any candy at all."

AND THAT'S not all," said the little girl, accepting a third candy. "Um, um. There's a snake down by our rubbish pile what can stand up in a circle and stick his tongue out at you. But if you don't hurt him, he won't bite you, 'cause he's a good snake, and when we have tea down in the long grass he comes and drinks milk out of our jug, and he drinks it so nice that he doesn't make any noise of slobbering and he always puts a big bit around his neck so we won't spill any on his shirt. But he hasn't got any pants 'cause he's too poor to buy any. So when somebody gives me a red money I'm going to buy him some pants 'cause he gets awfully cold at night time down in the long grass." To promote which worthy cause and to get rid of my surplus red money, I have just contributed a red money and she has gone trudging through the oak woods, into strange land where anything may happen.

Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES May 25, 1907

(From The Times Files)
The most important matter before the council and municipal circles next week will be the settlement of the Spring Ridge gravel question. At a public meeting to be held in the City Hall on Tuesday evening, the city and the property owners of Spring Ridge will consider the mayor's proposition for the settlement of the question.

Weather forecast—Victoria and vicinity: Moderate or fresh winds; fair and warm to-day and Sunday.

A band concert and pyrotechnic display at Beacon Hill Park wound up the sports yesterday. At 8 o'clock the park was alive with people and the crowds grew steadily larger as the time for the fireworks drew near. The Fifth Regiment Band in the grandstand and the Ladysmith Silver Band stationed at the Victoria memorial, entertained the pleasure-seekers until 9 o'clock when the rockets commenced to soar.

Excursionists from many of the surrounding points of Victoria yesterday to take part in the Empire Day celebrations. The city was thronged with strange faces, and the local car lines had great difficulty in dealing with the congestion of traffic.

By alterations which are now in progress on the tug William Joffe at the yard of the B.C. Marine Railway Company, her bunker capacity will be increased so that when she comes off the marina ways she will be able to steam for forty-five days without coaling, whereas at her present capacity only allowed her thirty-five days.

NATIONAL COUNCILS

To the Editor:—Replying to "Neo-Sheppardite" in to-night's Times, permit me to say that at no meeting of the National Council of Canada have I ever made any reference to either the "Swiss System" or "Pure Democracy," nor have I at any time used the term "rascals" in referring to party politicians, whether Liberal, Conservative or Sheppardite. Your Sheppardite correspondent obviously wishes to draw me into a newspaper controversy to enable the good Sheppard and his flock to achieve some free publicity thereby, but I have not the time to waste. If your correspondent wishes to obtain information as to the aims and objects of the National Council, I am sure the secretary here, Mr. G. R. Lovatt, or the Vancouver secretary, Mr. I. J. Baillie, barrister, Randall Building, West Georgia Street, will give him copies of all available literature. P. J. SINNOTT, 1305 Douglas Street, Victoria, B.C., May 23, 1932.

PRAISE FOR FIREMEN

To the Editor:—A word of praise is due to the fire brigade of the city for response and thoughtfulness of bringing a hose in the back entrance of the Empire Theatre yesterday afternoon. Had they pushed in the front door a panic would probably have ensued.

As it was many of the audience were unaware of the serious condition that existed. A. E. F. May 25.

"PROGRESS"

To the Editor:—Only five minutes walk from the City Hall there is a street and almost all the people who reside there are out of employment.

In some districts every other home has two or three young men and women who need the most essential thing—work. Crowds of fine young men congregate at our main street corners able and willing to do their part in building up this wonderful province. But the biggest trouble of all is that nobody cares—very few helpful proposals are made to improve conditions, and there must be a number of splendid ideas if our citizens would only bring them forward.

For instance, the press made a statement that this province imported $3,000,000 worth of early growing vegetables which we with a little effort and organization could produce ourselves. The vegetable wholesale men state we do not even grow enough of spring cabbage for local needs, let alone the eastern demand, also for peas, spinach, etc., which we can produce weeks ahead of the down country farmer.

Then there is the ice heating rink proposition and all the outside districts are in favor of its erection and willing to help finance a much needed building for ice hockey games and skating. A delegate from the building trades should be sent to Toronto to investigate how they have solved the small homes problem. In that city they have built a large number of small cost modern sunlit homes where everything has been built in the house that would help to bring up a family healthy and they are warm in winter. There is room for improvement in that line right in Victoria.

The central heating plant system is quite a financial success down eastern Canada and is worth trying out here. There is an ideal city-owned plot of ground facing the Athletic Park that would be just the site to build up now for an outdoor spring flower show with small admission charge to cover cost. Some of the old industries that are waiting to revive perhaps will never come back to life so we must do the same as England has done, think up new ways, new industries, to find employment for our people.

DRIFTWOOD

To the Editor:—The above has been the strongly urged advice of all our leaders, and rightly so, for without the support of our own people, how can we expect our local industries, which mean bread and butter to so many of our citizens, to flourish? Yet the moguls of the Saanich municipality have decided that they prefer to stay in the States, rather than in their own country.

The facts are these: On May 25 the insurance of the municipality expires. Tenders were called for and given. The two lowest, both of whom quoted exactly the same price, were one an American firm, the other a Canadian. Our local leaders, showing to my mind a very poor national spirit—gave the tender to the American firm? Why? Now, I have seen the list of the investments held by the Canadian company, every one of which is in Canadian affairs, whilst a very large amount is invested in our own British Columbia bonds.

I personally am disappointed and bewildered, and feel that the ratepayers of Saanich should realize this serious state of affairs.

MONTAGUE W. J. BRUCE, Saanichton, May 23.

PETS PARADE DESPITE RAIN

Storm Fails to Halt Youngsters Seeking May Celebration Honors

Heavy showers of rain which fell yesterday around the time set for the parade failed to dampen the ardor of more than 100 young Victorians who entered their pets, and the much anticipated pet parade proved an attractive feature of the May celebration. The parade to Royal Athletic Park, headed by the Boys' Band, was attended by hundreds.

There were a few disappointments. There had been several heavy showers during the morning and more rain was expected. The parade officials realized it was impossible to delay, and the young competitors were quickly hustled and marched to the Royal Athletic Park for the judging. As a result there were one or two broken-hearted children trying to choke back tears as they turned their specially adorned and dressed dogs or other pets, and walked forlornly around the park. They had missed the parade.

The hardy dogs which far outnumbered all other pets entered were different to the downpour, but it was hard on some of the others. Perky poodles were sheltered under the wings of their owners. Proud and beautiful cats looked a trifle crestfallen and furry white rabbits were dragged by the time the judging place at the park. There was one special entry to whom the rain mattered not at all. It was a tiny duck all dressed up for the holiday.

The barking of dogs and baying of the sheep provided an unusual chorus when the competitors formed half circle at Royal Athletic Park for the judging. The judges had a difficult task. Some of the competitors also dressed for the part. Mary, a little lamb competed with two vicious turkeys who kept a gaudy war under control. Many large dogs were harnessed to light decorated wagons. One youngster rode a fine pony. Two ponies and wagons were entered. One of the wagons having all the colors of the rainbow. There were many rabbits, cats and kittens, a little girl showing a kitten about a tall. One competitor showed monkey and rabbits. Many of the dogs pulled wagons containing other pets. In one a spaniel complacently wearing a hat, spectacles and with pipe in its mouth. Many of the dogs were dressed. Sheep and goats were shown as pets of the young competitors.

The results of the judging by Alderman H. C. Litchfield, J. E. McMillan and Chief of Police Allen Rankin of which are as follows:
Best groomed and decorated dog and dog—1, Terrence Hockley; 2, Philis Lam; 3, Mildred Cummings and semi-awards, Francis Butters andddy Clayard.
Best groomed and decorated cat and rabbit—1, Ada Rosewood; 2, Jessie Block.
Pets in cages—1, Donald Robinson; Edward Dewhurst; 3, Betty Newry and Joan Dawkins, and special award, David Franklin.

Novelty class—1, Alfred and Raymond Pengelly; 2, Claude Flower; 3, Pollock.
Best goat and lamb—1, Muriel Rankin; 2, Alfred Burgess.
As the children entered the park, the spectators were interested at the gate, and the searching for prizes that had been begun in several of the bags.

LONG SERVICE ON FRONTIER

Col. H. Exham, Here from Quetta, to Retire From British Army

Officer Hopes to Land Some Fighting Trout in Local Waters

Retiring from military service in British India, Lieut.-Col. H. Exham, who has been attached to the Quetta station in Baluchistan, on the Northwest Frontier, reached the city yesterday by the Empress of Japan from the Orient, accompanied by Mrs. Exham and their daughter.

"I have had nearly thirty years of it, and I am not considering going back," said Col. Exham, speaking of his military service. While at Quetta he was in command of the 7th Gurkhas, renowned fighters and the finest of Indian native regiments.

Col. Exham and his family came here and are staying at the Empress Hotel for a few days so that the army officer can enjoy some fishing. "I have heard of the fish that are to be found in these waters, and I want to land some salmon trout," he remarked. Within a few moments of his arrival here the colonel had made arrangements for a fishing trip.

He is in no hurry to get back to England, and plans to spend some time in the United States before crossing the Atlantic.

MILITARY CONTROL
The military have complete control of the situation at Bombay, Col. Exham explained when questioned about the recent riots which resulted in considerable loss of life. He takes the view of the average military officer that the whole question of unrest in India has been exaggerated.

There have been no disturbances in the northern frontiers of India. The British military depot at Quetta, most opposite to Kandahar, where the warlike Afghans in the mountain passes.

There is a large aviation base there with a fleet of troop-carrying planes. It was in these giant planes that British residents of Kabul were removed to safety when trouble threatened recently in Afghanistan. Col. Exham and his family left Quetta on April 4 and have been traveling most of the time since.

Thirty New Chapters Added Last Year; Alberta Leads With Nine

Toronto, May 23 (By the Canadian Press)—The Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, assembled here for its thirty-second annual convention, to-day, was told thirty new chapters had been added to the order, while eleven were disbanded, a gain of nineteen chapters over the number in existence at the time of the annual meeting last year.
Mrs. G. E. Knechtel, Edmonton, national organizing secretary, revealed in her annual report that Alberta led all provinces in Canada by organizing nine new chapters, while only one was disbanded. In British Columbia four new chapters were added by a loss of five, which resulted in a net gain of one. Nova Scotia gained three and lost one. Manitoba gained none and lost one.
Mrs. R. H. Brotherhood, national secretary, reviewed the activities of the order during the past year. The order forwarded to the Dominion Government seven resolutions, including one which asked that Canada's representatives at the world disarmament conference raise the question of whether it would be advisable to prohibit manufacture of offensive armaments and munitions by private corporations.
Miss G. Irene Todd, convener of the committee for work in India, reported contributions for building and other funds totalled $3,030.75.
Miss Ethel M. Johnston, national "Echoes" secretary, revealed the order's publication suffered a financial loss of $730 during the year.

SOCIAL WORKERS IN CONFERENCE

Experts From Britain and U.S. to Speak in Winnipeg June 7 to 9

Problems confronting family welfare workers will be aired at the third biennial Canadian conference on social work in Winnipeg, from June 7 to 9, when delegates from all over the Dominion will attend to consider the needs of the present day and adjustment of their work to changing conditions.

Cost of social service to the people of Canada now reaches $100,000,000 annually, twice the amount spent by the four western provincial governments, and nearly one-third of the total spent by the federal government.

Leaders in social work declare that people of Canada have a right to know what they are getting full value for their investment. Social work must adjust itself to changed conditions of business and industry. How are these changes to be made, and where? What things must be done as part of the bedrock of the sound social order? These and other questions will be dealt with at the forthcoming conference.

Foremost social workers of England and United States will address the conference. Professor R. G. Davison of the London School of Economics and an authority on industrial problems in Great Britain, will speak on "Unemployment Insurance." Professor Frank J. Bruno, professor of applied sociology and director of training for social work at Washington University, will lead the discussion on social case work. R. H. Wolfenden of New York, consulting actuary, who has made extensive studies into various contributory forms of social insurance in Great Britain, and Dr. C. M. Hincks, general director, national committee for mental health, will be represented by York, will also be among the speakers.

Col. H. W. Cooper, city relief officer, is scheduled to lead discussion on "Which Way to Economic Security?" J. Howard Falk, executive director, Vancouver council of social agencies, will act as chairman of the community division; Miss Mary McEderan, director family welfare bureau, Vancouver, will speak on "Initiating the Family Welfare Agency." Miss Grace Hill of the children's aid, will take as her subject "Supervision of the Teen-age Child." Rev. Hugh Dobson will speak on "The Minister and Social Work." Miss Lillian Collins of the children's aid, will act as chairman of division one, "the child" and Miss Laura Holland will be present in her capacity as vice-president.

At the residence of the officiating minister, Rev. W. G. Wilson, D.D., Pemberton Road, the marriage was quietly solemnized on Friday evening of Helen, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Gropp, Yates Street, to Mr. John Whereat of Victoria, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Whereat of Wisconsin, U.S.A. Mr. Whereat is the assistant manager of S. S. Kresge Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Yarrow of Poul Bay Road, who left early in April for Bristol, will arrive at Quebec tomorrow on the Empress of Britain en route home. They went over to attend the marriage of Mr. Yarrow's niece, Ethne, daughter of Sir Harold and Lady Yarrow of Chislehurst, Surrey, to Mr. Cyril Scott of Glasgow, which took place on April 30 in Scotland.

Little Georgina Levine was the guest of honor at an informal party given by her mother, Mrs. B. Levine, 1118 North Park Road, the occasion being her sixth birthday. The rooms were prettily decorated with red peonies and candelabras. A beautifully decorated birthday cake with six lighted candles was cut by the guest of honor. The guests included: Joan and Phyllis Aspinwall, Mavis Barker, Doris and Eileen Creed, Kathleen Dobbs, Jean McPherson, Minnie Garrick and Margaret Scott, and Misses Lennie Delo, Harry Frackson and Andrew Shoji.

Among the guests registered at the Empress Hotel to-day are: Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Patterson, Vancouver; Mr. J. A. deWolf, Winnipeg; Mr. W. H. Mills, Boston, Mass.; Mr. J. M. A double miscellaneous shower was held at the home of Miss M. Burnett, Croswater Road, in honor of Miss E. Seedhouse, a popular bride-elect, and a recent bride. The many lovely gifts were concealed in a miniature house; and were presented by little Miss Phyllis Foster. In order to obtain first-hand information from the negroes themselves, says The New York Times, she has been staying at an hotel in Harlem, which caters for a negro clientele. She showed a prospectus of the work to the management of the hotel, and it is said that she is asking negroes for their personal impression on the questions.

It is understood that, in spite of protests from New York and London, she is proceeding to Montgomery, Alabama, in connection with the death sentence passed on seven young negroes for an alleged assault on two white girls in a train, her object being to obtain a revision of the sentence.

London, May 25.—The King and Queen, after a complete rest at Sandringham from state events during the Whitelands holidays, to-day had returned to London and plunged into a heavy list of engagements.
To-day they visited the royal tournament at Olympia. The Prince of Wales will visit the tournament tomorrow and will see, as the concluding number of the programme, depiction of the presentation in 1284 by Edward I of his infant son to the Welsh people at Carnarvon Castle. They met also former King Manuel of Portugal, who has lived in England since the revolution of 1910.
On Friday the King and Queen will attend a performance of the Wagnerian

CONCERT DREW BIG AUDIENCE

Twelve Hundred Attended
Symphony Programme at Royal Athletic Park

Albert Sullivan and Mayor
Leeming Spoke on Empire Day

The symphony orchestra concert given at Royal Athletic Park on Monday evening attracted a large audience, estimated at around 1,200 people, who were delighted with the excellent programme provided by the sixty musicians under the baton of Alfred Prescott, conductor.

The Victoria Male Choir, led by Frank Tupman, provided a programme of vocal selections which earned rounds of applause.

Albert Sullivan, provincial inspector of high schools, gave the Empire Day address. He told of Britain leading the world towards recovery from the depression, as a result of her courageous handling of the financial crisis of last fall.

The early days of Victoria were touched upon and Mr. Sullivan remarked: "If those first pioneers could have been at the school sports to-day they would surely have said 'this is our fondest dream come true'." He declared the sportsmanship in evidence at the Willows had made him feel proud to be a Britisher.

Mayor's Address
When introducing Mr. Sullivan to the audience Mayor Leeming said: "The citizens of Victoria have always evinced special regard for Empire Day and on the eve of our annual celebration it is fitting that we should voice our sentiments of loyalty and our feelings of sympathy and co-operation with each unit of the vast commonwealth of nations known as the British Empire."

"We all realize that the nations of the world are passing through a period of anxiety and difficulty and arising out of these difficulties large numbers of people in every land are in a state of unrest and discontent."

"With this in mind it is incumbent upon the citizens of the British Empire to demonstrate to the world at large that the empire is a vital, living thing, imbued with a solidarity of purpose and a unanimity of thought which fits our empire for that high place in world affairs it has always held."

"May we hope that the empire conference shortly to be held in Ottawa will give proof of the fact that a genuine spirit of kinship and friendship pervades the British Dominions and Colonies and that we are determined to weld each unit of the empire into an economic whole."

Among those registered at the Dominion Hotel are: Mr. Wm. Walker, Vancouver; Mr. Warren Russell, Friday Harbor; Mr. Lloyd Fleming, Friday Harbor; Mr. James Hostie, Port Alberni; Mr. Wm. Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRID

Even though the mother conscientiously desires to nurse her baby, she may find that as soon as she is on her feet and confronted with the problem of satisfying her baby's hunger and attending to his manifold physical needs her ability to be a satisfying nurse vanishes.

Without doubt the responsibility of a new baby, the fatigue and natural weariness to accompany these new duties have a very real influence on the mother's milk supply. This is often just a transitory period. It does not necessarily indicate the need to wean baby, but it does mean that baby's hungry wails must be stilled by some extra good food until the mother has recovered her strength and placidity.

COMPLEMENTARY FEEDINGS
Complementary feedings fill that temporary need in a most satisfactory way if the mother uses them properly. If complementary bottles are understood to mean a bottle at every other feeding period, the net result is that eventually baby has to be weaned. Such a procedure hastens the diminishment of the breast milk. But if baby is nursed regularly at each feeding period, thus giving him the benefit of every bit of nourishment his mother can provide, and the deficiency is made up by a bottle formula, given immediately after the nursing, that is quite a different thing. Baby thrives and regains his good disposition without being subjected to weaning.

If, during the period of complementary feedings, the mother will strive to get more rest, will learn a better technique of breast feeding, shortly she can discard the formula altogether and furnish all of baby's nutrition by breast feeding alone.

Complementary formulas are not at all difficult to prepare. Helpful instructions are embodied in two of my leaflets, "Formulas for Complementary Feedings," and "Computing Complementary Formulas." Mothers will find these of aid in continuing breast feeding during the hot months. Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request for these leaflets to Mrs. Eldrid of the "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

WATCH GAINS
If the mother is doubtful whether her supply is sufficient to nourish the baby, she should watch his gains in weight most carefully. A five to six ounce weekly gain usually means a satisfied baby. If the weight gain drops lower than four ounces weekly, it is fairly certain that the mother's supply is inadequate.

There may be periods in the day when the baby frets and cries and gnaws his fist hungrily. These periods are most often the late afternoon nursing at 2 p.m. and 6 p.m. If the mother will weigh the baby before and after each feeding during the day, she'll notice how often the number of ounces he gains at these feedings is markedly less than at other feedings. Complementary bottles at just two afternoon feedings will give baby no excuse for making the late afternoon a time of torment for his mother.

Crowds continued to pour into the Crystal Gardens until nearly midnight, the late comers filling seats and standing room vacated by those who left early.

For the dancing, Alfred H. C. Cowlishaw, manager of the Gardens, had two orchestras in operation, using both the north and south ballrooms. Mr. Cowlishaw was assisted in handling the crowds and the events by Laurence Herchmer, assistant manager of the Gardens.

BEST DANCERS CHOSEN
In the dancing competition Lillian Leask and her partner A. E. Dunnett were chosen as the most accomplished and best matched pair of dancers. The decision was announced by the two dancing judges, Miss Betty White and Miss Florence Clough.

"The Plains of Abraham"

By JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD
(Copyright by Doubleday Doran Co., Inc.)

No one of the three who were watching him would ever have guessed that Hepsibah's act was one weighed heavily with destiny, nor that with dramatic inevitability it was to change the course of human lives, bringing the high down to earth, and the earthly to great heights, losing passions and hatreds and loves, breeding tragedies and joys, and ending, at last, in what is the purpose of this humble chronicle of human events to narrate.

A swift-coming thought, a deft return into the pack of a small bundle which he had intended for Catherine, and Hepsibah had changed a world. On such trivial happenings do the most powerful of the fates sometimes rest. Out of the farthest corner of the collapsing pack he brought this bundle to light once more and unwrapped it as he turned toward Jeems's big-eyed, anxious face.

"Jeems," he said, "I've put the pouches in my memory right, you were born on the coldest January day I ever saw, and that makes you just twelve years and four months old this evening, which means that only three years and eight months lie between you and the day when you can be counted a man. According to law, you are a king's subject of maturity from that day and can take life and all its belongings into your own hands, so long as you are honest about it, and can stand up in equality before the stiffest periwigged judge in the Colonies or New France. In other words, Jeems, I mean that in less than four short years you will be a full fledged man!"

Having delivered himself of this introductory peroration Hepsibah finished unwrapping the package, and never had Catherine beheld such a handsome piece of velvet as that which her brother displayed in the candle glow. It was, par excellence, the finest of the treasures he had brought, a cloth of matchless beauty, a crimson glow, and filled with changing humors and colors that it seemed to be alive in his hands. Surely this was another present for his mother, Jeems thought. But to his amazement, and to the surprise of Hepsibah, thrust the cloth into Jeems's hands.

"For Mademoiselle Marie Antoinette, fronteur from her devoted admirer, Daniel James Buntin," he announced. "Jeems, don't blush. Twelve and ten are not far from sixteen and fourteen, when you will be man and woman, and if ever a seigneur's daughter finds herself lucky it will be on the day she marries a son of the tribe of Adams. The writing on it, Jeems, tells where it came from and how much it cost, and along with it I have brought you some nankeen for britches and clothes, four shirts, and a three-cornered hat with a black ribbon, six handkerchiefs, and a jack-knife, two pairs of lace britches, as many of new shoes, and—this, and from the new completely emptied pack he drew forth a beautiful long-barreled pistol, his eyes glancing at the light of the candles and pointed out its merits to Jeems. "As long as you live, you must never part with this pistol, Jeems," he said. "It isn't new, you see, but its record is one of glory as long as my arm, and I'll tell you about it some day. It's a killer, lad, a killer deadly and sure, good for a hundred paces with less than an inch of drop, and he gave the weapon into Jeems's hands.

An instant of disapproval gathered in Catherine's eyes. "It was kind of you to bring the cloth for Antoinette but I do not care for the pistol, Hepsibah," she said. "A pistol makes me think of—men fighting men, and here we are at peace, having need only of the rifle and of Jeems's bow and arrows to bring us meat. I feel it is not best!" As she spoke she was conscious of peace, a cloud came over Hepsibah's face, but in a moment he had laughed it away and was telling her that within a week she would be as proud of her boy's marksmanship as she now seemed fearful of the pistol's influence upon his future.

The next day was the day of the auction sale at Lussan's place. Lussan was a wealthy farmer at the edge of the next seigneurie, ten miles away. He was returning to his old home near the Isle of Orleans, a country he liked better than the Richelieu, and was selling most of his goods. Among these were a plow with an iron point, a forty-gallon soap kettle, and a loom which Jeems's father wanted, so he had planned to start with the ox early in the morning. Jeems had heard Tonteur say he intended to buy Lussan's three slaves, a mother and father and daughter, and that the young wench was for Tonteur. Tonteur would be with her father. He would take his treasure package with him to Lussan's and find an opportunity to give it to her.

Should Paul Tache be there and dare to overlord him again, or laugh at his meekly suggestive way, or speak sneeringly, or so much as say a word against his gift for Tontette. A rumble of fresh-growing thunder was advancing out of the west, and preceding it came a roar of wind and a deluge of rain. Lightning cut once more in vivid flashes across the low panes of the bedroom window, and the roof seemed to bend and groan under a sudden torrential bombardment. Jeems fought in unison with the elements. His spirit mounted bravely with the turmoil. He had his enemy down and was thrusting his head into wet and slimy mud. He was beating his face and eyes, and spitting his splendid raiment, and pulling out his hair. And Marie Antoinette was looking on. With the gorgeous red velvet in her hands and her eyes big and starry, she was watching him as he choked and kicked and pommelled the life out of Paul Tache!

The outbreak of thunder and rain passed as swiftly as it had come, and, in passing, it left Jeems breathing quickly and fiercely in his bed. He had risen in these moments to reckless heights, and his mind, hot with its desire for action, had settled with grim assurance upon what would happen the next day. First he would present his gift to Tontette. Then he would do what his Uncle Hepsibah had told him to do. He would whip Paul Tache.

SIR W. PEEL VISITS HERE

Governor of Hongkong Reports Balanced Budget and Favorable Surplus

Will Meet Brother Who is Ranching at Elkhorn in Manitoba

"We may be considered in a very favorable position as we have succeeded in balancing our budget, and have a surplus in hand," said Sir William Peel, K.C.M.G., K.B.E., C.M.G., governor and commander-in-chief of Hongkong, on reaching here by the S. Empress of Japan yesterday from China.

"There are few governments that can show a surplus in these days of stress, and I am pleased to say that the administration at Hongkong is among the best in the world in which it has solved its financial problem," Sir William said.

The Hongkong administrator displayed interest in the forthcoming conference at Ottawa, and remarked that the colony is entering into the spirit of inter-empire trade.

Sir William, who succeeded Sir Cecil Clementi as governor of Hongkong in 1930, is going to London on leave, accompanied by Lady Peel, and his son, Capt. T. H. Colman.

Following the arrival of the ship from the Orient yesterday morning the Governor and his party disembarked and proceeded to Government House as guests of the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. J. W. P. Johnson. They are leaving to-day for the east, and plan to sail by the S. Empress of Japan on July 3 for the United Kingdom.

WILL VISIT FARM

"We are planning to stop off at Elkhorn, Manitoba, in order to visit my brother, whom I have not seen for a number of years," said Sir William. "I was in Canada myself twenty-seven years ago, and am looking forward to visiting the prairies once again."

Robert Peel has a large ranch in Manitoba, where he has been farming for years.

"In my official capacity I am not in a position to discuss it," explained Sir William when asked for his views on the Sino-Japanese scrap in Shanghai. He was quite willing, however, to talk about Hongkong.

He referred to the development that is going on at Hongkong and the large amount of building that is under way and contemplated there.

Most of the development work is financed by the Chinese, although there is considerable British money invested in the city.

The voyage across the Pacific, and the call at Hawaii has been very enjoyable and Lady Peel and I have greatly benefited by the exhilarating cruise. This is a wonderful ship, and we have had a delightful time while aboard her," remarked Sir William just before he came ashore.

He was met at the wharf by A. M. D. Fairbairn, private secretary to the Lieutenant-Governor.

For most of his life, Sir William has been in the British civil service in the east.

He entered the Malayan civil service in 1897 as a cadet, later leaving Ceylon to become a member of the Legislative Council at Cambridge as eleventh wrangler. He was president of the municipal commissioners at Penang in 1911, and subsequently held the office of president of municipal commissioners at Singapore, joint passage controller of Malaya, food controller and controller of labor. He was British adviser to the government of Kedah in 1922 and resident councillor at Penang in 1923.

Before assuming the governorship of Hongkong he held the post of chief secretary to the government of the Federated Malay States, and was officer administering the government and high commissioner in the Malay States. When the opportunity occurs, Sir William rides to hounds, and he is a keen golfer. During the next few months he will enjoy these recreational pursuits to the full.

Lady Peel is also a good horse-

Thousands gathered to watch the events at the different grounds on which they were run and despite the bitter wind which blew throughout the afternoon, enjoyed the keen competition.

Tillicum won third place.

The tug-of-war final between Tolmie and McKenzie Avenue put the contest. McKenzie Avenue put the heavier and better trained team in the field, three members of the Tolmie being lightweight substitutes.

Malone Puts Lean Years Behind
By AL DEMAREE

Pat Malone, the Chicago Cubs' big right-hander, has as much stuff as any pitcher in either league to-day, but he has not put as many games on the winning side of the ledger as he should in the last two years.

Malone is one of those unfortunate pitchers who loses his games in one bad inning. In this way he is like "Red" Ames, the old Giant pitcher, Ames had as great a curve ball as any pitcher that ever lived but he could not win consistently. If the Giants were shut out, Red lost 1 to 0. If they made eight runs he lost 9 to 8. He stayed in the National League almost two decades and never really had a big year.

Some pitchers stumble along for several years before they find themselves, while others like Wes Ferrell of Cleveland blossom into stars overnight.

Dizzy Vance had some lean years before he made the grade as a star. This may be the case of Pat Malone. I hope so, because he has the natural stuff.

WALKS FORWARD And Tires Out
Associated Press

Istanbul, May 25.—Pierie L. Wingo of Abilene, Texas, who walked backwards nearly 5,000 miles until he bumped into the law in the Balkans, now has blisters on his toes and his feet are tired.

"Europe was a nice continent to look on, he said, until he backed into the police, and had to take off his neoprene glasses and sight about face into jail."

He got blisters on his toes walking forward several times a day from the jail here to passport headquarters. "If they would only make me go backwards," he said, "it wouldn't be so bad, but I get all tuckered out now when I have to walk forward. It uses different muscles."

Elks Will Meet Green Mill Nine

To-night's senior amateur league "ball" game at the Royal Athletic Park will bring together the Elks and Green Mill. The game will start at 6.15 o'clock. Doc Webster is expected to occupy the mound for the Elks with Hadden opposing him. In the opening game Saturday the Elks turned back the Sons of Canada.

Old Country Cricket

Nottinghamshire and Sussex drew.

Trenton, N.J., May 25.—New Jersey Democrats yesterday pledged Alfred E. Smith their thirty-two convention votes for the presidential nomination after being assured "we have our eyes open for every opportunity" with respect to their favorite son, Governor A. Harry Moore.

Mineral Wells, Tex., May 25.—Texas Republicans, acting harmoniously, late yesterday instructed their forty-nine delegates to the national convention at Chicago to vote for the renomination of President Hoover.

HEALTH IN HIGH SCHOOL

Mechanics of Human Body Should Be Part of Every Child's Education

By DR. MORRIS FISHBURN

According to statistics of the United States Department of the Interior, out of 1,000 children entering school, 410 reach the high school. Of these, 438 will reach the second year, 321 the third year, 268 the fourth year, and 280 will finally graduate.

Of 160 students who enter college, fifty will graduate. Every year some 4,250,000 students are listed in the high schools of the United States.

In an address before the American Public Health Association, Dr. Jago Galdston considered the special health problems that concern the high school students.

By the time the child reaches high school it really should have some knowledge of personal hygiene. It ought to know enough to bathe regularly, and to take proper care of the fingernails and hair.

By the time the child reaches high school, however, it is also in the period of adolescence, and in that period it is of the greatest importance that it learn something definite about the mechanics of the human body and the relationship of physical health to a satisfactory life.

It is for this reason that leading high schools have established courses in physical education for both boys and girls in which they are taught the elementary facts about foods. Moreover, it is rather useless to teach children about food until they have learned something about the physiology of the digestive tract.

It is simple to trace food from the time it enters the mouth until it is broken up into all of the essential constituents that are carried by the blood to different parts of the body and there help to build tissue and to repair broken parts.

In classes in civics and in government, for instance, a student is placed in most instances on the work of health departments. Children should learn something about the way a community health department works.

Even history can be utilized to teach health. It can be shown how great governments in the past were destroyed through improper attention to sanitation.

It is probably not important that children be taught in high school all of the essential facts regarding tuberculosis, venereal disease, Bright's disease and similar troubles to which the human flesh is heir, but teaching of community hygiene will make into consideration the causes of all diseases that are controlled on a community basis.

TEN BEST TENNIS PLAYERS OF WORLD RATED BY LONDON

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times

London.—At the beginning of a new competitive season, with the prospects of the Davis Cup contests and the English, French and American championships ahead, it is always a matter of primary interest to appraise the standing of the world's leading players. Such a glance should tell who probably will be in the limelight this year.

For that reason Reuter offers for consideration a list of the world's best lawn tennis players. The outstanding fact about this list is that the average age is a little more than twenty, ten years less than the average of any season up to 1924:

Henri Cochet, France; E. Vines, U.S.A.; F. J. Perry, Great Britain; H. W. Austin, Great Britain; F. X. Shields, U.S.A.; J. Borotra, France; G. M. Lott, U.S.A.; J. Crawford, Australia; J. Van Ryn, U.S.A., and J. H. Doeg, U.S.A.

In this list only the magnetic Basque Jean Borotra is over thirty years of age, and he won the championship at Wimbledon as far back as 1924.

Henri Cochet must come first because the French reign of supremacy since 1927 has been due mainly to his pre-eminence. For, although he holds none of the premier championships—French, American or English—yet once again last year he won his two singles and the doubles match in the Davis Cup challenge round.

E. Vines is the champion of the United States at the age of nineteen. He is to come to Europe this year to lead America's challenge for the Davis Cup. Like William M. Johnston and

The result may therefore be discounted. He was the only opponent seriously to threaten the supremacy of Vines in the last American championships—running him the full length of five sets in the semi-final round.

H. W. Austin is ranked No. 1 by the English Lawn Tennis Association. In this list he takes the fourth place. To his credit it may be recalled that he defeated Shields in the Davis Cup. But he lost to this American at Wimbledon and has no record in the French championships at Auteuil.

KISS PICTURE—MIGHT BE NEW STYLE PHOTOGRAPHY

You would not think by looking at those girls that they posed for a scientific experiment. Their eyes closed, lips pursed, heads tilted for a kiss—this kind of photography may become the latest fashion. These two young ladies, Misses Margie Lowe, left, and Elizabeth Guild of Memphis, Tenn., were the mediums for a kissing experiment conducted by a southwestern university professor who wanted to know what kind of bacilli the lips carried. The experiment proved that love was a contagious disease.

POWER THEFT BRINGS FINE

Special to The Times

Port Alberni, B.C., May 25.—A. W. Johnson was fined $25 and costs in police court on Monday for stealing electric current from the National Utilities Corporation Limited. Temporary wiring had been connected to the line side of the meter, and current used to operate a hot plate and lights in a chicken brooder did not pass through the meter.

Johnson pleaded that he was not aware that the current would not be recorded. Magistrate Campbell allowed two weeks for payment of the fine. L. A. Hanna appeared for the electric light company.

The scenario writers at Universal City found a great many of their stories for Tom Mix rejected by the famous western star. The reason was that Tom Mix had never taken a drink or smoked tobacco on the screen.

Neither has he ever gunned a man, except in self-defence or in prosecution of official business. "Destiny Rides Again," his latest picture, is now at the Columbia Theatre.

Wheat Pit Softens Following Reports Of Moisture In U.S.

Winnipeg, May 25.—Fair export trade over the holiday and a steady tone in the Liverpool wheat market offset to some extent initial-hour declines on reports of moisture over the United States southwest and grain prices came back to close fractionally lower today. Prices at the close were 1/2 to 1/4 lower than Monday's final figures.

May closed 1/4 lower at 63 1/2; July, 1/2 lower at 64 1/2; and October, 1/4 lower at 65 1/2.

The effect of an unfavorable Washington weather report was less than might have been expected, because it had been anticipated by trade from private reports. A Paris dispatch increasing to 45 per cent from 40 per cent, the proportion of imported wheat which may be used by French millers in making flour, served as a further factor in sustaining prices on the Winnipeg market. Wheat during the morning was slow and spread near the close of the session were generally unchanged from Monday's closing figures, but the market again sank to the low mark and again recovered in the late trade, largely following the trend in Chicago throughout the day, but apparently the upturns were difficult to hold.

During the first fifteen or twenty minutes there was excellent buying by seaboard houses against export business worked yesterday and overnight, and about 1,000,000 bushels were taken out of the local pit.

The market was active with offerings liberal by way of liquidation based on the weakness in Chicago yesterday, while Winnipeg was on holiday, and with Chicago selling here on spreads after the export demand was satisfied the market turned quiet with nothing of feature going on. Early cables were slightly better than day, based on Chicago, but Liverpool sold off and closed 1/4 to 1/2 lower.

In the cash market there was just a moderate demand for the different grades of wheat and all spreads were unchanged. There was no change in the flour situation, which continues quiet. Showers were received in parts of the southwest the past forty-eight hours, but they were mostly light and unfavorable reports continued to come in to-day with indications that the crop is still deteriorating over important areas.

Wheat is heading on short straw and is spindly and can only produce small yields under most favorable conditions from now on. Apparently very small winter wheat crop is in the making and one that will probably place the United States on a complete basis, a situation that will probably be felt later in the season. Frosts are forecast to-night as far south as Nebraska, with some scattered showers or thunderstorms in central area.

Winnipeg futures closed at the top for the day, but 1/4 to 1/2 lower than Monday.

Coarse grains—Output of some export business in barley with sales estimated at around 200,000 bushels, the coarse grains were very quiet to-day, there being nothing doing in oats or rye.

NEW MONTREAL LOW FOR C.P.R.

Canadian Press
Montreal, May 25.—Losses were general at the close of the Montreal Stock Exchange to-day.

Canadian Pacific Railway lost 2 1/2 at 8 1/2, a new all-time low. International Nickel at five closed with a loss of 1/2. Montreal Power dipped 1/2 at 26. Brazilian Traction was off 1/2 at nine.

Hamilton Bridge recorded a new low at 24 1/2, 1/4 down. Bell Telephone, whose dividend was reduced to 10 cents from 8 to 7 per cent, lost 2 1/2 points at 88. Among bank issues Commerce lost two points at 138, a new low, and Royal Bank of Canada lost one point at 144.

Bank of Montreal lost nine points at 170 and Nova Scotia dipped two at 243. Canadianeers was up one at 130. Shawinigan Power ended 1/2 at 9 1/2. Massey-Harris dropped 1/2 at 21.

Dominion Bridge was off 1/2 at 10 1/2. B.C. Power "A" fell 1/2 at 17 and Al-Berta Grain Preferred was off five points at 20. McColl-Frontenac dipped 1/2 at 9 1/2.

Consolidated Smelters was up 1/2 at 17 1/2. Steel of Canada was firm at 23 1/2.

Trading in cash wheat during the morning was slow and spread near the close of the session were generally unchanged from Monday's closing figures, but the market again sank to the low mark and again recovered in the late trade, largely following the trend in Chicago throughout the day, but apparently the upturns were difficult to hold.

During the first fifteen or twenty minutes there was excellent buying by seaboard houses against export business worked yesterday and overnight, and about 1,000,000 bushels were taken out of the local pit.

The market was active with offerings liberal by way of liquidation based on the weakness in Chicago yesterday, while Winnipeg was on holiday, and with Chicago selling here on spreads after the export demand was satisfied the market turned quiet with nothing of feature going on. Early cables were slightly better than day, based on Chicago, but Liverpool sold off and closed 1/4 to 1/2 lower.

In the cash market there was just a moderate demand for the different grades of wheat and all spreads were unchanged. There was no change in the flour situation, which continues quiet. Showers were received in parts of the southwest the past forty-eight hours, but they were mostly light and unfavorable reports continued to come in to-day with indications that the crop is still deteriorating over important areas.

Wheat is heading on short straw and is spindly and can only produce small yields under most favorable conditions from now on. Apparently very small winter wheat crop is in the making and one that will probably place the United States on a complete basis, a situation that will probably be felt later in the season. Frosts are forecast to-night as far south as Nebraska, with some scattered showers or thunderstorms in central area.

Winnipeg futures closed at the top for the day, but 1/4 to 1/2 lower than Monday.

Coarse grains—Output of some export business in barley with sales estimated at around 200,000 bushels, the coarse grains were very quiet to-day, there being nothing doing in oats or rye.

Oats closed 1/4 to 1/2 lower. Barley 1/4 to 1/2 higher, and rye 1/4 to 1/2 lower.

Flax 1/4 to 1/2 lower. Livestock due 1/4 higher on Winnipeg.

The Greatest Legacy of the Canadian people to the next generation

...is life insurance

When the Sun Life began business in 1871 life insurance in Canada was $13 per capita.

TODAY it is $635 per capita. With one exception, Canadians are now the highest insured people in the world.

The Sun Life has played a leading part in fostering this thrift in the Canadian people and in protecting Canadian homes.

MAKING HIS FIRST TOUR

Rajah of Jubbal and Wife Reach Here on Way to States and Europe

People here rubbed shoulders with an absolute ruler of India yesterday in the person of Rana Bhagat Chandra Bahadur, Rajah of Jubbal, and his consort, Rani Lalaba, passengers by the Ss. Empress of Japan from the Orient.

With his arrival in the city the Rajah explained that it was the first time he and his wife had ever left India.

"We are making a world tour and hope to see much of Canada and the United States before we go on to Europe," he said. "I suppose it might be termed an educational tour. There is no retinue, the Rajah being attended only by his secretary, Babu Dula Ram."

Jubbal, with Jubbalpur as its capital, is a small but rich state on the northern borders of India.

The state is fringed by the Himalayan range and is some 7,000 feet above sea level.

GOOD LINGUIST
The Rajah was educated at Lahore and speaks English fluently. With his arrival in Victoria there was a complete absence of lavish display and Oriental ostentation which usually is associated with the travel tours of the native Indian princes.

When in Canada he believes in doing as the Canadians do. He wore a sack flannel suit of fashionable cut, a soft fedora and carried a cane. By no stretch of the imagination could he be described as a fashion plate.

His wife wore a long robe of dark material with a brightly colored silk scarf drawn tightly about her head.

Both displayed pearly white teeth when they smiled, as they did quite frequently during the course of the conversation.

EXTENSIVE WARDROBE
They occupied one of the ship's suites and in the cabins and baggage room were deposited large trunks and grips containing their wardrobe for the extensive tour. They propose to visit the mountain resorts of Canada and will go south to California by way of Seattle, traveling from New York to England. He hopes to see something of the moving picture industry in Hollywood.

Plans are being made for their entertainment in London and the south of France and other continental resorts will be visited before they return to India by the Ss. Empress.

The Rajah displayed much interest in Victoria and, accompanied by the Rani, made a sightseeing trip of the city while the liner was in port.

He remarked upon the fine trees and the profusion of flowers.

NOT INTERESTED
Newspapermen sought to draw the Rajah out regarding the views of the native princes on Gandhi's demand for complete autonomy.

"We have it in the northern states," he remarked, not appearing the least interested in the fortunes of the discipline of disobedience. The British government recognizes the rule of the princes in the frontier states and they in turn are loyal to the crown.

Before he left the Rajah posed for news photographers.

LATEST BOOKS ON SHELVES OF LOCAL LIBRARY

Aldous Huxley's "Brave New World" and Virginia Woolf's "The Waves" Received

New Books By Sir Arthur Salter, Harry Emerson Fosdick and Philip Gibbs

An unusually good list of new books at the Victoria Public Library this week includes "Brave New World" and "The Waves," the new novels by Aldous Huxley and Virginia Woolf, respectively. Other volumes include "Way of the Lancer," by Richard Boleslavski; "Noguchi," by Gustav Eckstein; "Forty-niners," by A. B. Hulbert; "Recovery: The Second Effort," by Sir Arthur Salter; "As I See Religion," by Harry Emerson Fosdick; "Oh Yeah," a "debunking" volume; "Art of Being a Woman," by Olga Knopf; "Goose Steps to Peace," by Jonathan Mitchell; "Is a Frenchman?" by Friedrich Sieburg; and "Reckless Duke," by Philip Gibbs.

The full list follows:
"Way of the Lancer," by Boleslavski and Woodward, is a remarkable book. Richard Boleslavski is known as a man of the theatre. He began as an actor in the Moscow Art Theatre. He is now a film director in Hollywood. But for a few years in his life he was a lieutenant in the Polish Lancers, who were allies of the Russians fighting the Germans and the Austrians. "Way of the Lancer" is the story of the last days of the fighting with the Russians, and of the rise of the Red army, who became their enemies as they had previously been their allies.

"Noguchi," by Gustav Eckstein, is the biography of Selsaku, or Hideyo, as he became later, Noguchi, who was born in 1876, the son of a poor farmer in a Japanese village. When a very small child, he was terribly injured by burning, but he overcame his handicap, studied medicine, and came to America where he was for a time a protegee of Dr. J. S. W. Mitchell. Later he was connected with Rockefeller Institute and conducted research into the nature of yellow fever, finally dying of that disease while studying it in Africa.

"Forty-niners," by Archer Butler Hulbert, is the chronicle of the cross country trek of the forty-niners. It is cast in the form of a diary of one party who made the trip from Independence, Missouri to the Sacramento Valley from May to September, 1849. In his preface the author explains how first he prepared maps of the route, then read every available journal and book, and finally from material thus collected wrote the diary. "Every material fact is from some record—nothing is modern except the arrangement." The volume contains many illustrations from contemporary cartoons and prints.

"Recovery: The Second Effort," by Sir Arthur Salter, reviews the details of the great economic crisis. The author, for ten years director of the League of Nations, analyzes from a broad perspective the absolute rule of fair-mindedness the causes that have brought the world into its present distress and indicates the requirements, economic, financial, commercial and political, upon which to base a new world order.

"As I See Religion," by Harry Emerson Fosdick, contains a red edition of what the intelligent person can believe. As the title implies, Dr. Fosdick's interpretation is based on a frank personal discussion of what he himself believes. It offers a sane and interesting argument for the reality of religion in the spiritual life of today. The book is neither narrow and sectarian in tone nor sterile and sophisticated. For those who are eager to broaden their understanding of life, anxious to find something in which to believe, yet unwilling to forfeit their own right to think, it offers new vision and hope.

"Oh, Yeah," compiled by Edward Angly, is a small volume in which the compiler has collected excerpts from the speeches and writings of government officials, economists and industrial leaders who have spoken in optimistic vein during the course of the present economic depression. These statements printed in black are opposed by quotations from newspaper headlines, business reports, etc., printed in red and indicating the actual course of events.

"Art of Being a Woman," by Olga Knopf, is an attempt at a natural history of women in present day society. It describes the development of the young and adolescent girl, the situation of the woman who marries and the woman who remains unmarried, the attitude of women towards work and of mothers toward their children, and the problems that face the woman who is growing old.

The author is a Viennese doctor and a former pupil of Dr. Alfred Adler. She is now lecturing at the New School for Social Research in New York.

"Goose Steps to Peace," by Jonathan Mitchell, explains the tangled background of the three post-war peace conferences, Washington, Locarno and London, and the conflict of interests involved. The government leaders pay lip service to peace, and at the same time pursue policies that lead to war. Instead of the peace the people ask for they are given a treaty, with seals and ribbon.

"Western Influences in Modern Japan" is a collection of papers prepared for the meeting of the Institute of Pacific Relations in 1929. It is in effect a series of magazine articles dealing with various aspects of modern Japan. The division of subjects is conventional—education, journalism, women, politics, foreign relations, etc.

"Brighter Spanish," by Lide Raza, is an excellent book for those who wish to perfect themselves in Spanish and acquire up-to-date colloquialisms. It is a keen, sympathetic analysis of the national character and civilization of France. The author sees France as the last resort in a mechanized world of those who hope for the happiness of the individual, but also as an obstacle in the way of the advance of the world.

"Aliot and Afflict in the Caribbean," by Lewis Freeman, is a description of the author's adventurous year flying, cruising, climbing and exploring in the lands surrounding the Caribbean Sea. The best parts of the book are his exceptionally realistic descriptions of the unmitigated scenery along the Caribbean and his graphic character-sketches of the people he met.

"New British Empire," by William Y. Elliott, is a survey and interpretation of the post-war changes in the British Empire. The book is based upon lectures delivered by the author at the Lowell Institute in 1931. He there is that the British Empire is undergoing a change, and from a centralized system is becoming a league of allied states. The appendices contain documents on constitutional development, economics, party programmes and foreign affairs.

"Reckless Duke," by Philip Gibbs, is the romantic story of the first duke of Buckingham and the Stuart court.

SHIPPING, RAILWAY AND AVIATION NEWS

Empress of Japan Made Fast Voyage

TOUR PARTIES COMING HERE

Will Have Option of Flying Between Victoria and Vancouver When on Coast

Montreal, May 25.—Traversing 8,000 miles, of which 6,000 will be covered by rail, 1,400 by steamships, 500 by automobile, with an optional eighty-mile journey by air, the all-expense trans-Canada tour of the Canadian National Railways, which will leave Montreal and Toronto in July, is attracting much attention from holiday seekers. It was stated by C. K. Howard, manager of the tourist and convention bureau of the Canadian National Railways.

All of the details of travel are looked after in advance in these arranged tours. Mr. Howard stated, even to arrangements for laundry service at points en route and for the delivery of mail at various stopping places, sightseeing trips in various cities, automobile tours in the Canadian Rockies, steamship journeys on the Great Lakes and the Pacific Coast are all included in the plan of the all-expense tour, and in addition this year travelers are given the option of flying between Victoria and Vancouver on part of their journey.

The first tour will leave Montreal and Toronto on July 8 and 9, respectively, and the second on July 22 and 23, respectively. All inclusive rates arranged provide for fares, meals and berths, sightseeing trips and motor transport, with stopovers at such desirable points as Minaki Lodge in Ontario, Jasper National Park in the Canadian Rockies, and Kitanga, the totem pole village in northern British Columbia. An experienced tour conductor will accompany each of the tours.

This year, more than ever before, Mr. Howard stated, there is an apparent desire on the part of holiday seekers to take advantage of such prearranged tours in order that they may know exactly before leaving home what such a jaunt across Canada will cost them.

The Empress of Japan will remain in Vancouver until Saturday, June 4, when she will sail on her return voyage to Honolulu and the Orient, passing through Victoria in the late afternoon on her way to sea from Vancouver.

Beauty: Every Woman's Wish
Dorothy Dix
Questions Value Of Great Beauty

Beauty the Magic Talisman That Insures a Woman's Happiness and Success in Life? On the contrary, Thinks Dorothy Dix, the Moderately Pretty Girl Stands a Far Better Chance of Getting a Good Job and Husband

A GOOD fairy should suddenly appear before her and offer every woman her heart's desire, she would cry out, "Give me beauty," without even pausing to consider the subject. For, if she told the honest-to-goodness truth, there is not a single female of any age, station or achievement who could not rather be pulchritudinous than to be intelligent or talented or capable or good or to possess any other virtue whatsoever and who does not get a kick out of being praised for her looks than she does for her accomplishments, no matter how great these may be.

Also, the woman would shrewdly argue, that if she possessed beauty, she could get for herself all of the balance of the things she craved. If she wants money, she can marry it. If she desires good times, there are relays of men anxious to step out with a good-looking. If she yearns for position and place, she has only to roll her glorious eyes to be invited into the reserved seats of the mighty. In a word, if she wants her pathway strewn with orchids, she has only to be easy on the eyes to turn the trick.

Furthermore, the woman would reflect, there is no other such alibi as beauty. A peaches-and-cream complexion and wavy hair are a substitute for brains, and as long as woman's head is sufficiently decorated on the outside no one cares how scantily furnished it is on the inside. Nobody expects a living picture to be a kitchen utensil, or a lily-white hand to cook or scrub or have a tight hold on the market money.

It is because it seems to the homely woman that the beauty gets all the breaks in life that those of the sex that is not always so fair place such an inordinate value upon good looks, and spend their lives and enrich beauty shops in their heroic efforts to circumvent nature and make themselves better-looking than it intended them to be.

But, after all, is beauty so all-powerful as women think it is? Does beauty insure a woman's happiness and success in life as women so devoutly believe it does? Is it really God's best gift to a woman?

According to the recently expressed opinion of a Folies beauty, than whom none less or pulchritudinous, the answer is emphatically "No." She says that beauty is indeed a fatal gift and that hers has brought her nothing but trouble and worry and disastrous marriages and blighted ambitions and hopes and plans that failed, and that the woman who has to depend on her brains instead of her looks has a better chance of happiness and success than has the beauty.

One is inclined to agree with her and to surmise that beauty has probably always been a much over-advertised attraction for which its owner had to pay far more than it was worth. Probably it has never got her what she thought it would, and indeed in many cases it has cost a woman her life, or in ancient times it was always the most beautiful maiden who was elected for sacrifices, while the lucky owners of snub noses and carry-eyes went safe and free.

Nor is beauty really as potent in modern life as we think it is. No man, or at least no man's wife, wants a raving, tearing beauty in his office, and so it is a real handicap to a girl in getting a job if she belongs to the bathing beauty class. A moderate amount of prettiness is all to the good, because we enjoy beholding girls who are balm to our eyes, but when a young woman looks as if she belonged in Hollywood instead of behind a counter or in front of a typewriter, she is outdistanced any day by a plain Jane.

Nor is beauty the sure-fire conjure in getting a girl a husband that it is believed to be. The general assumption is that if a girl has a classical profile and golden hair and violet eyes, she casts a spell over men that they are powerless to resist, and she can marry whom she pleases. This, however, is far from being the case. Theoretically men are worshipers of beauty, and they like to take a girl out who is so good-looking that she makes other men stare enviously after her, but when it comes to marriage, nine times out of ten a man chooses a plain little wren for a wife instead of a gorgeous bird of paradise.

Why this is so, I do not know, but a glance among the married women of your acquaintance will convince you that very few of them were married for their looks. Men may rave over the living picture, but they are content to let some other man have her as a household ornament.

For all we get in life we have to pay, and the beauty has to pay the magic price of all. The inevitable loss of her one great gift. She has to see the roses fade out of her cheeks, the lustre from her hair, the color from her eyes, the suppleness and grace from her form, and she is powerless to stay the ravaging hand of Time. That agony the homely woman escapes, and never to be told how she has faded is a consolation prize for never having been a beauty.

Little-Trips Into Nature

IT-BIG-BILLED PELICANS

"What a bill and what an appetite!" We are likely to speak those words if we watch a pelican at feeding-time in a zoo. The bird opens its mouth and gets a fish; and the next second the mouth is ready for another fish.

Pelican sitting on eggs. What a nest!

The pelican's bill is sometimes sixteen inches long. The lower part has a pouch which is used to store fish and other food, until the time comes for swallowing.

You may think that pelicans are greedy—and if you think so, you will not be far wrong; but part of the food in the pouch is meant to be given away when there are young pelicans at home. Little pelicans start out with good-sized appetites, and keep their parents busy bringing in the food.

When they are walking around on land, pelicans look very awkward; but they have a fine power of flight. At the seaside you may sometimes see a flock swooping down on a school of fish in shallow water. The fish have come so shallow-water to escape big fish—now they are gobbled up by the pelicans. What a life!

certainly have the laugh on the big birds. Laughing gulls, by the way, are not so-called because of any such trick. They make strange sounds, very much like a human laugh, and that gives them their name. Other kinds of gulls are well known robbers. A pelican colony is a great sight. Hundreds of birds gather on a flat or gently sloping place near a lake or sea. The eggs are laid on the ground, sometimes without even a little grass beneath them. As the young hatch, the colony becomes a lively place. Dinner, dinner, dinner is the great cry. Young pelicans sometimes lose track of their parents and peck at the legs and pouches of strangers in the hope of getting food. The "strangers" (who know their own young) refuse to feed the little ones who do not belong to them. With jobs from a big beak, the baby pelican is sent about his business. He must keep moving until he finds one of his parents.

LUXTON

Many spectators witnessed Saturday evening's basketball game in Luxton Hall between the Y.M.C.A. Victoria, and the members of the local team, the former winning by a small margin. Bob Whyte acted as referee. Dancing followed the game, the music being supplied by Stan Cross's orchestra. A basketball game and dance will be held Saturday evening, May 28, in Luxton Hall, the proceeds of same to benefit the Athletic Club. Norman Rhodie was a week-end visitor in Vancouver.

THE HOURS AND THE MINUTES—NO SOUND—HARDLY A BREATH OF AIR STIRRING—SUDDENLY THE TWIG OF A TREE SNAPS—HE THOUGHT HE HEARD A FOOT STEP—IT STARTED ANDY'S TEETH CHATTERING—

WHAT'S THAT?

THEN ALL WAS QUIET AGAIN—TO GET A BETTER VIEW HE MOVED FORWARD—THERE WAS A RUSTLE IN THE BUSHES—DIRECTLY AHEAD OF HIM—SOMEONE IS COMING—

AND IN THE DIM MOONLIGHT HE SEES THE FIGURE OF A MAN STANDING—NOT THREE PACES FROM HIM—IT IS A TENSE MOMENT—ANDY STEADIES HIMSELF—TAKES AIM AND WAITS—

WHO CAN THIS BE? WHAT CAN HE WANT AT THIS TIME OF THE NIGHT—CONTINUED IN OUR NEXT—

Bringing Up Father—

WELL, IT'S ABOUT TIME THE FAMILY DECIDED WHERE WE ARE TO GO FOR THE SUMMER. I THINK OUT IN THE WOODS IS THE IDEAL PLACE.

HUNTIN' AN FISHIN' IS MY IDEA OF A VACATION.

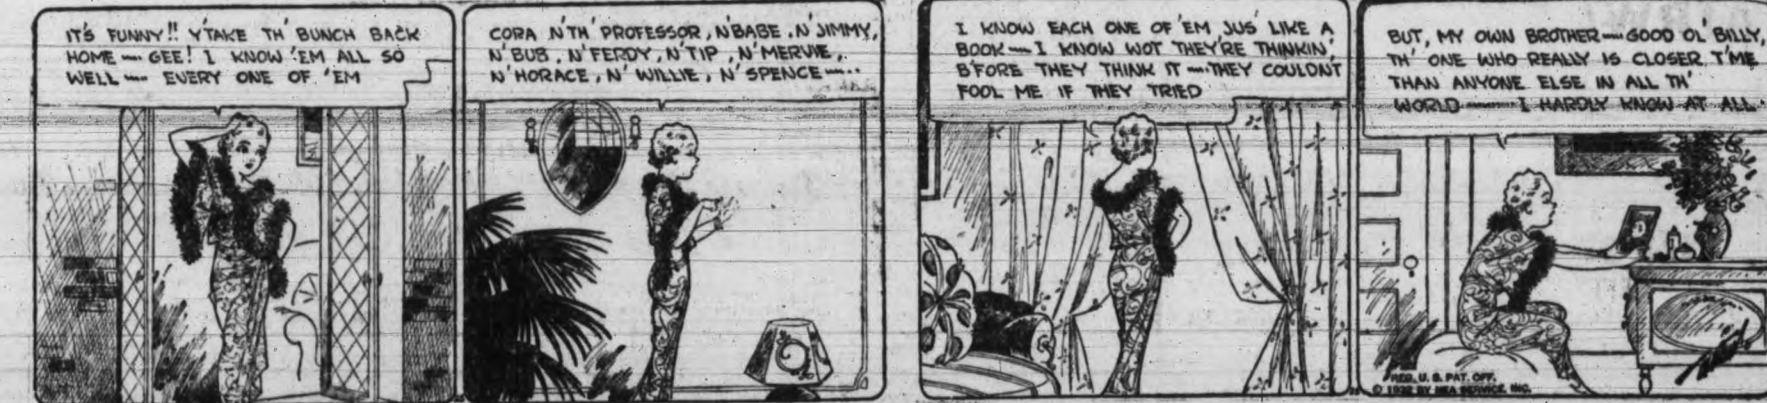

DON'T BE SILLY, DADDY—THE MOUNTAINS ARE THE ONLY PLACE FOR ONE TO ENJOY ONE'S SELF.

NOW, LISTEN—YOU AND DAUGHTER TALK ALL YOU LIKE, BUT I HAVE DECIDED THAT WE ARE GOING TO THE SEASHORE.

AIN'T EVERYTHING NICE AROUND HERE?

WELL, I THINK I'LL GO TO THE MOVIES AND SEE A WAR PICTURE—I MUST HAVE QUIET.

SAY, TELL ME, WHAT WAS THE NATURE OF THAT MEETING IN THE TOWN HALL LAST NIGHT—I DIDN'T STAY!

WELL, WE HAVE A MEETING FREQUENTLY TO DECIDE WHETHER THE PEOPLE STILL WANT TO REMAIN SEALED IN THIS VALLEY—AWAY FROM THE REST OF THE WORLD!

SH! DON'T LET ANYONE HEAR YOU CALL HIM THAT! HIS NAME IS THADDEUS HART—HE RUNS THIS TOWN! HE OWNS EVERYTHING IN IT! HE'S A POWER!

AND WHAT WAS DECIDED AT LAST NIGHT'S MEETING?

WELL, SINCE YOU CAME HERE, THINGS HAVE BEEN STIRRED UP! LAST NIGHT ALL THE GIRLS ASKED MR. HART IF THEY'D LOOK AND DRESS LIKE YOU IF THEY LEFT HERE!

THAT WAS AWFULLY NICE OF THEM! I SUPPOSE GIRLS WONDERED IF THERE WAS ANY MORE OF SUCH A THING OCCURRING!

NOT HOPE, MY DEAR—DANGER IS THE WORD!

Horoscope

THURSDAY, MAY 26, 1932

Benefic aspects are strong to-day, according to astrology. It is a time to begin important undertakings. The planetary government is believed to encourage confidence in one's self and one's associates. Business partnerships are well guided by the stars. Under this rule small enterprises should benefit and again there is promise for those who begin business in a modest way. Again speculation is encouraged by the planetary guidance and highly trained men and women will be fortunate. One of the prophecies made by astrologers is that hands as well as heads will be educated with special care. Girls as well as boys are to be generally fitted for wage-earning. It is foretold, and practical considerations will dominate. Students to-day should be fortunate, for the stars smile on the young and ambitious. A sign of the new order of things will be the manifestation of the desire to put ideals above money considerations. There is rather an unfavorable sign governing women in business affairs. This is not a way for making any sort of venture. Russia now comes under a rule of the stars that appears to promise many surprises to the world at large. Warning again is given that a desire to speculate and even to gamble will be strong during the summer. Wall Street is to focus much attention. It is foretold again, and a sudden rise in stocks will tempt many. Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of many small changes. Ocean voyages are prosaized. Children born on this day probably will be imaginative and high-strung. Subjects of this sign usually are studious. Edgar Poe, successful author, was born on this day, 1817. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Robert V. Chambers, 1865, novelist, and Queen Mary of England, 1867.

Winnipeg, May 25.—A considerable improvement in the forest fire situation in northern Manitoba and Saskatchewan was reported to-day as the result of scattered showers during the last twenty-four hours. Several fires were still burning in the Porcupine Mountain Reserve, however, and it was stated more rain was needed before all could be brought under control. In the Flin Flon and eastern Manitoba areas fires were either out or well under control. Fires which threatened valuable timber stands at Birch River, north of Bowman, Man., and at Cutback, northwest of Bowman and close to the Saskatchewan boundary, checked by rains, had been localized through the efforts of crews. A-though one block of good timber in those areas was destroyed, remaining valuable limits were well protected to-day. Fires which had been burning for several days at Cold Lake, on the Flin Flon railway, and along the Hudson bay railway, were extinguished.

Meat production in the United States was 1.4 per cent higher in 1931 than in 1930. During 1931 we produced 16,777,000,000 pounds of meat.

TRUSTEES MEET AT COBBLE HILL

Cobble Hill, May 23.—A joint meeting of the Cowichan Station, Bench, Cobble Hill, Mill Bay, Sylvania and Shawigan Lake school boards was held Monday evening at the home of Stephen Dougan.

Trustees present were: Cowichan Station, C. Owens; Bench School, S. Dougan; J. Woods; E. Sheering; Cobble Hill, W. Freeman; G. E. Bonner; Sylvania, F. J. Copley; G. Morris; Mill Bay, T. Wilkinson; A. Barry; Shawigan Lake, Mrs. Eysen; S. Hegid.

Before the meeting a letter was handed to the secretary of each board asking permission to hold a vaccination clinic at each school.

The meeting opened with the election of Trustee Heald as chairman, and Mr. Dunnitt as secretary.

The question of a united sports day was fully discussed and the teachers arranged of the boards and teachers to be held next Monday evening at the Sylvania School to arrange the programme.

The next question before the meeting was the amendment to the Public Schools Act, Section 121B.

Trustee Morris said that the amendment was passing the buck to the school boards to raise more taxation from the land. The meeting decided to leave this question open until the next meeting.

The question was raised by Trustee Bonner as to the financing of the Cowichan Health Centre.

The secretary was asked to write to Dr. H. E. Young, provincial health officer, for an itemized statement of the government's grants to the Cowichan Health Centre.

It was pointed out to the meeting that in bringing this question up it was not intended that any reflection should be taken or meant on the magnificent work of the health centre in the district.

With the stroke of a pen!

This man's estate became $50,000 richer!

ONE of our policyholders recently applied for an additional fifty thousand dollars of Confederation Life Insurance, giving as his reason—"I have lost more than fifty thousand dollars in speculation and unwise investments. It never dawned upon me, until recently, that I could replace this amount in my estate for a modest sum, which I can afford to save out of earnings, so that, if anything happens to me, my family will not have to suffer the penalty of my folly."

"Folly" is a hard word to use. It is not ours. It is the word of a business man who knew what he had done... and the consequences of it... and was swift to take action to remedy the matter, when he saw his way clear to do so.

You may not be in a position to afford another fifty thousand dollars of Life Insurance to replace capital losses; but, even if it be only a few thousand, the soundest thing that you can do in a financial way is to buy this additional protection. You cannot lose. You have everything to gain... even that most precious thing, "peace of mind," insofar as protection of dependants is concerned.

Write now for particulars of our Guaranteed Monthly Income Policies and Pension Bonds. The proceeds of these policies cannot be dissipated or lost through unwise investment.
